Prime Minister Serves Notice On Aggressor States

LONDON, March 24.—Prime Minister Chamberlain today refused to give Czechoslovakia "a prior guarantee" of immediate armed help against German aggression, but he warned Adolf Hitler that a middle European war would drag in other powers.

LONDON, March 24.—Prime Minister Chamberlain today served notice upon aggressor states that Great Britain would fight to fulfil her treaty obligations.

FLAT PLEDGE TO CZECH FOLK GETS REFUSAL

Country Would Appear Helpless Now Against German Aggression

LONDON, March 24. — Prime Minister Chamberlain today refused to give Czechoslovakia a flat pledge of British military help against German aggression. But he promised the House of Commons Great Britain would use her new armaments to fight to fulfil her treaty obligations.

This constituted his expected announcement that Britain would not declare war automatically if Germany invaded Czechoslovakia.

"Although the ability of the league to fulfill its functions has been reduced.

STILL INTERVENE

"This is not to be interpreted as meaning that His Majesty's government would in no circumstances intervene as a member of the league for restoration of peace or maintenance of order if the circumstances made it appropriate to do so.

"I cannot see any object in trying to make a difference between the armaments required for defence and armaments required for the purpose of fulfilling international obligations.

"There is no question of our using our armaments for purposes of aggression or purposes inconsistent with the covenant of the League.

WOULD BE NO NEED

"If ever the time comes when the world established an international

But he also declared to a packed, intent House of Commons that she must first try to preserve peace, "because we know that in war there are no winners."

"I do not deny that my original belief in the League of Nations as an effective instrument for preserving peace has been profoundly shaken. That arises from the present condition of the League itself, due to recent events."

In Britain's most important declaration of foreign policy since the Great War Mr. Chamberlain declared his confidence peace "will be maintained."

GIVES PLAIN WARNING

The Prime Minister, in the most important declaration of foreign policy since the Great War, declared central Europe was not an area where vital British interests are at stake. (Great Britain has no treaty binding her to aid Czechoslovakia as she is bound to France and Belgium.)

But he warned plainly if German aggression should result in war there Britain might be forced into it.

This was interpreted as a warning to Germany to tread slowly toward Czechoslovakia.

He urged peaceful settlement of Czechoslovakia's German minority problems and offered Britain's help in this.

He turned down Soviet Russia's call for consultation against aggressor nations. His strongest warning to Germany to go slow in central Europe was this:

"If war broke out it might be quite impossible to say where it might end and what governments might be involved."

BOUND BY TREATY

"We are bound up by certain treaty obligations which would entail upon us the necessity of fighting if the occasion arose; and I

Japan Sees U.S. Navy Big Peril In Pacific

Nippon Spokesman Cannot Believe American Navy Will Come So Near Islands To Play, As Reported

TOKYO, March 24.—A Japanese navy spokesman said today he believed the United States navy's $1,121,000,000 expansion bill shows the United States is considering naval operations against Japan.

The spokesman, speaking at a press conference, said: "My own view is that if Americans are not thinking of overseas operations they would not need a fleet of that size. Nor do I believe the object of American operations could be any other than Japan."

Self defence still is the basic principle underlying Japan's plans, he added. He placed credence in American denials that actual cooperation exists between the United States and Great Britain, but commented:

"Personally, I think they have something like a common understanding which does not go to the extent of co-operation."

Reports 1938 United States navy war games would extend to near the borders of Japanese mandated islands in the Pacific, drew from the naval representative the remarks: "It is unbelievable the Americans will come so near."

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota characterized as "ridiculous" assertions many of Japan's fishing boats were really disguised warships.

Briefly touching upon the Alaskan salmon problem, Hirota said the Japanese and United States governments still were negotiating and he expected an amicable agreement. He intimated Japanese fishing boats would not travel to Alaskan waters this year.

(Alaskan fishermen have protested that Japanese fishing boats outside territorial waters were not observing United States conservation regulations and were ruining the industry).

Coast Defence In Pacific Area Washington Aim

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Allocations proposed in the $47,808,000 United States war department bill indicated today that the army, like the navy, is giving particular attention to key defences in the Pacific area.

The bulk of a $6,748,559 allotment for seacoast defences was earmarked to strengthen strategic points on the Pacific coast, in Hawaii and at the Panama Canal.

Of $12,755,295 requested to meet a "critical" deficiency in anti-aircraft weapons and equipment, $3,783,540 was specifically for the western shoreline.

These are aside from the general provision for men, guns and

AUSTRALIANS PLANNING FOR BIG WARSHIPS

New Armaments Will Cost $124,250,000 in Three Years

CANBERRA, March 24.—Prime Minister Joseph Lyons announced a three-year defence program for Australia today, involving new armaments expenditures totalling £24,850,000 ($124,250,000).

With regular defence maintenance programs, it was estimated Australia's armaments for the next three years will cost £43,000,000.

The three-year program includes £7,750,000 for the navy, £5,500,000 for the army, £8,800,000 for the air force, and £2,800,000 for munitions.

It was announced the Commonwealth government is buying from Great Britain two cruisers similar to the 8,830-ton Sydney, completed in 1936. Two sloops and three coastal defence vessels will be built in Australian yards, and navy personnel will be increased by 1,500 men.

(The authorized naval force in 1937 was 4,290 men).

Anti-submarine and anti-aircraft defences will be strengthened in principal ports. Air force plans provide for an increase to 198 first-line planes by 1941.

To offset a portion of the cost of the two cruisers to be purchased from Great Britain the Australian government will hand over the seaplane carrier Albatross to the British admiralty. The Albatross, completed in 1928, displaces 4,800 tons and has accommodation for nine seaplanes.

REBEL ARMY IN SMOKE SCREEN HITS NEW COURSE

MADRID, March 24.—The Spanish insurgent army, for the first time in the smoke screens to cloak its advance, struck out today for the Mediterranean on a new course into rich and hitherto untouched Catalonia.

Shifting their attacks north of the Ebro river, after a two-week clean-up campaign on the south bank, the insurgents fixed Lerida as their first important objective.

Lerida is a key city for any drive to cut the insurgents, moving north and east from the Ebro, into the northeastern corner of Spain.

Protruding Ski Leads Searchers To Youth's Body

Reginald Pugh, Victim, Within Three Feet of Safety When Caught by Avalanche—Partner Still Sought

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

JASPER, March 24.—The body of 16-year-old Reginald Pugh was dug from the snow of a mountain avalanche in Elysium Pass Wednesday afternoon, but his companion, Donald "Curly" Phillips, famous guide and mountaineer, has not yet been located, it was reported by two members of a search party who returned here at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The young Jasper boy was within three feet of safety when the slide caught him, the searchers reported. They located his body by the heel of one ski, which was sticking out of the piled snowslide.

A party left Jasper this morning to bring back Pugh's body and continue the search for Phillips, who is believed to be buried deeper somewhere in the same avalanche.

WORD FOR FAMILIES

Discovery of Pugh was the first word that families of the missing skiers had received for more than 30 hours after the search party went into the pass. During that time they had held faith that the men would be found safe. Mrs. Phillips and her three children, Sam, 9, Ivy, 8 and Ivy, 6, still are waiting first and definite word of the fate of Mr. Phillips.

Adding to the strain undergone by Mr. and Mrs. Pugh in the death of their eldest son, Reg, was the fact that Mr. Pugh's

HALF JASPER OFFERED HELP FIND PHILLIPS

Slide Where Two Met Death Reported To Be 350 Feet Wide

JASPER, March 24—Half the town of Jasper volunteered their services to go to the scene of Monday's fatal ski accident to recover the bodies of Reg. Pugh and Donald "Curley" Phillips, but due to the isolation of the region and difficulty of travel at this time of year the park authorities sent out only four, Warden Harry Driver, Roy Fisher, Ed. Neighbor and Ted McGuire. Frank Buratrom left at daybreak by himself to go through to the scene of the tragedy. He is an expert both on skis and snowshoes, and should arrive well ahead of the larger party.

Warden Frank Bryant and Constable Dagg remained at the outer camp, while Wardens Nelles and Wells brought the news to Jasper late Wednesday night of the finding of Reg. Pugh's body.

NOT VERY DEEP

The slide is reported to be about 350 feet wide but not of great depth.

HOSPITAL HAS NEW MARK FOR NEW CITIZENS

VANCOUVER, March 24.—St. Paul's Hospital Wednesday marked up a new record for births. During the 16-hour period between 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, when the first new citizen arrived, and 9:15 a.m. Wednesday, eight boys and four girls were brought into the world.

The previous record was eight births.

Big Bend Highway To Be Completed By Government

By THOS. WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 24.—The Dominion government will keep faith with British Columbia and the Big Bend highway will be completed in 1939.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of mines and resources, is taking a personal interest in the road, and a vote will be included in the supplementary estimate; this session to provide for further work on the unfinished section.

The highway is 192.6 miles long, with 32½ miles unfinished. It is planned that this summer over half of the new section will be built, and the balance completed in 1939.

Annual Debate On Defence Is Opened In House

OTTAWA, March 24.—The annual debate on defence opened today in the House of Commons when Hon. Ian Mackenzie, defence minister, started consideration of his departmental estimates. The estimates total $34,000,000 compared to $35,000,000 last year.

WINTER ROAD INTO MINING AREAS URGED

Strong Representations Made For Route From Grimshaw to Great Slave

Strong representations for the construction of a winter road from Grimshaw to Great Slave Lake and north from that point, to assist in the development of northern mining areas, were made in the legislature on Wednesday while the house was in committee of supply discussing public works department estimates.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works; Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton; W. J. Lampley, S.C., Peace River and others spoke strongly in favor of the highway.

Mighty Fleet Sails Pacific

Symbolic of the U.S. navy and all its strength is this war vessel, steaming into the boundless Pacific for war games in which 150 ships, 170,000 men and a giant air armada will participate. The navy is projecting its 1938 spring games almost to within the shadow of the Orient, penetrating farther into Asiatic waters than ever before. As pictured on the map, almost the entire ocean will be covered by the manoeuvres, from the Aleutian Islands on the north to the American-owned islands in the Pacific and perhaps south and east to the Panama Canal. The navy will execute its "Problem 19," which is held in secrecy so strict that not even newspaper men will be allowed to watch the "war." The manoeuvres will end late in April.

Temporary Boost In Alberta Bank Taxes Indicated

Temporary increase in taxes payable by banks was indicated today with a resolution being placed on the order paper of the Alberta legislature to precede introduction of the legislation.

The resolution will be moved by Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, seconded by Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer.

Revenue from bank taxation at present is approximately $223,000 annually and the new bill is expected to increase this amount by about $100,000.

A bank taxation bill provided $2,000,000 in revenue annually, passed by the legislature at the September - October session last year, was ruled unconstitutional by the supreme court of Canada in a judgment March 4.

Assent to the bill had been reserved by Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen for the signification of the pleasure of the governor general. The bill later was referred to the supreme court of Canada with other legislation and constitutional questions.

The resolution on the order paper asks the house to go into committee of the whole "to consider a resolution for a bill for an act to provide for the temporary increase in taxes payable by banking corporations."

DIVORCE BILL TO HIT ROCKY SENATE ROAD

OTTAWA, March 24.—The divorce bill of Senator Cardinal McMeans of Winnipeg is due for a rocky ride in the House of Commons and there is a strong possibility it will not become law this session, parliamentary observers predicted today.

The bill is scheduled to be considered by the third reading in the Senate today and likely will be passed. Then it will go to the Commons whose sanction is necessary before the bill becomes law.

WOMEN SUGGEST RETIREMENT OF AGED SENATORS

VICTORIA, March 24.—Members of the Canadian senate should retire at 75 years "in accordance with the principle recognized in all other branches of important government service," the British Columbia Council of Women suggested to the Rowell Commission yesterday.

"A very revolutionary idea," commented Commissioner J. W. Dafoe.

"I thought appointment to the senate was generally understood to be a gift of immortality," added Chairman N. W. Rowell.

Agreed Freight Rates Railways' Weapon Against Truck Competition

RATE PLAN IS NOVEL SCHEME FOR CONTINENT

Second Reading Given Bill To Establish Transport Commission

OTTAWA, March 24.—Agreed freight rates will give the railways a weapon against truck competition without injuring general business, Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, told the House of Commons, Wednesday.

The house gave second reading to the government bill to establish a transport commission with regulatory powers over railways, inland shipping and air traffic. The bill was sent to the house railway committee which will hear representations for and against it.

NEW FEATURE

Agreed rates, as set out in the bill, would be a new transportation feature for the American continent. The minister believed there were ample safeguards against its misuse, including the stipulation there would be no discrimination between large and small shippers.

The agreed charges section of the bill says that "a carrier may make such charge or charges for the transport of any part of his goods as may be agreed between the carrier and the shipper." The agreed charge must be approved by board of transport commissioners.

ATTACKS LEGISLATION

Thomas Read (Lib. New Westminster) kicked over the party traces to attack the legislation. He said it would injure British Columbia, particularly through its regulation of ships using the Panama canal between Canadian ports.

What Canada needed was lower freight rates, not more of them, Mr. Read argued. The whole purpose of the bill was to protect the railways and not the public. Instead of forcing the railways to meet new competition, the bill offered them protection against it.

police force which would inspire us all with full confidence in its capacity, then there would be no need for us to trouble our heads about our own defence. That would be done for us.

"But until that day comes—and I am afraid it is a great way off yet—we must think first of the safety of this country and the safety of peoples for whom we are responsible.

"The government already have placed on record a judgment of the action taken by the German government, and to this I have nothing to add."

This was a reference to Germany's annexation of Austria, which Mr. Chamberlain denounced in his last previous speech in the Commons.

As the opposition laughed derisively, Mr. Chamberlain went on:

"The British government have been glad to take note of and in no way underrate the definite assurances given by the German government as to their attitude."

After the annexation of Austria Germany gave formal assurance to the Czechs that this move in no way was designed against them. Said Mr. Chamberlain:

"His Majesty's government will at all times be ready to render any help in their power toward the solution of questions likely to cause difficulty between the German and Czechoslovakian governments.

"In the meantime there is no need to assume the use of force or indeed to talk about it. Such talk is to be strongly deprecated. Not only can it do no good; it is bound to do harm."

"The consequences of that action remain," he said. "There has been a profound disturbance of international confidence. The problem before Europe is how to restore this shaken confidence.

"The solution of the question of relations between Czechoslovakia and the German minority in that country would go far to re-establish a sense of stability over an area much wider than immediately concerned."

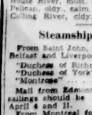

The prime minister was cheered when he quoted Anthony Eden who resigned as foreign secretary when he split with Chamberlain over foreign policy—to this effect:

"Nations can not be expected to incur automatic military obligations save for areas where their vital interests are concerned."

WINTER ROAD INTO MINING AREAS URGED

vince should not be building roads into the Arctic Circle when other parts of the province were in great need of market highways.

J. H. Unwin, S.C., Edson, made a plea for the construction of an 85 mile highway to serve 7,000 people in the Coal Branch area, west of this city. He pointed out the large population in this area and the lack of communications and declared that there should be some means by which the residents could have access to other areas.

STRONG SUPPORT

He was given strong support in his recommendations by Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton.

Mr. Fallow said that provision was being made for construction of bridges in the area and that tenders were required before any main highway construction could be done.

Discussion on the various highways projects came up when a vote of $1,002,400 for main highways construction was reached by the committee.

This is the same amount as was voted last year and after a long discussion it was held over for further debate.

TO GO AHEAD

J. H. Tremblay, Liberal, Grouard, asked whether the government proposed to continue gravelling the Peace River highway.

"We intend to go ahead with our program until that road can be called an all-weather highway," said the minister.

The Grimshaw to the north highway was introduced by E. L. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader, who asked if there was an appropriation for building this road.

Mr. Fallow, in reply, stated that there was provision in the appropriation as a whole. Replying to a question of mileage, the minister said it was 400 miles from Grimshaw to Fort Providence on the Mackenzie river and 135 miles from that point to the Yellowknife mining area. In view of the fact that it was proposed to build a winter road, only a superficial survey would be made.

COST $300,000

Replying to a question by Mr. Tremblay, the Minister said that the cost would be about $300,000. There were deep ravines on the route which would be selected for its suitability as a summer road ultimately.

The province was primarily interested in that section lying within the province, declared Mr. Lampley and that part within the North West Territories was a question for Dominion government consideration.

It was recalled by Mr. Fallow that submissions had been made by the province to the Dominion so that a Dominion grant would be available for construction of roads into the mining area. He expressed hope of obtaining some aid from Ottawa. He pointed out that while the province had made submissions only in regard to that part of the highway in Alberta the Dominion was interested in having the whole scheme covered as far as the Yellowknife field.

Mr. Foster asked whether the highway was to link settlements or to serve needs of the mining industry.

PROJECT DEFENDED

Mr. Lampley defended the project, stating that it would open new markets for farm produce of northern areas.

Mr. Foster objected to spending from $300,000 to $500,000 to accommodate the mining industry.

Northern mining roads merited consideration, said the minister. He directed attention to the fact that many thousands of tons of freight had accumulated at Fort McMurray last season owing to lack of highways facilities and he urged that a road from McMurray north should be built as quickly as possible.

NOTHING DEFINITE

In reply to a question by D. M. Duggan, Alberta Conservative leader, as to whether any definite road building program had been prepared by the department, the minister said he could not say definitely what the province's program would be until "we have completed negotiations with Ottawa."

Mr. Foster then asked whether a seven-mile stretch in his constituency, urged for the last three years, would be gravelled this year.

Mr. Earl Anslow, S.C., Lesser, asked regarding the Leduc-Thorsby road, and E. O. Duke, S.C., Rocky Mountain, drew attention to the need of a hard-surfaced road through the Crow's Nest Pass.

Mr. Gray wondered if there was any danger of Saskatchewan building a road from Prince Albert into northern Alberta and tapping the area which this district should serve.

ROAD IMPOSSIBILITY

Mr. Fallow pointed out that "engineers say that a road in from Wabasca is a physical impossibility. It would have to cross several hundred miles of muskeg country. Albert's always will be the gateway to the north country."

Need of improving the Wainwright-Edgerton-Chauvin highway was urged by William Masson, S.C., Wainwright. He recalled that for 15 years the U.F.A. government had promised to do something about it, which brought from A. E. Fee, S.C., Sedgewick, the remark that "We have not only had promises."

Later Mr. Fallow stated that the highways program included the project mentioned by Mr. Masson, although he could not say just how much would be spent. Generally speaking, he said, funds would be apportioned to highways improvements in accordance with the need.

A. E. MacLellan, S.C., Innisfail, asked regarding highways gravelling in his constituency.

The committee passed $154,800 for district highways maintenance, an increase of $54,000 over last year.

CHAMBERLAIN CERTAIN PEACE BE MAINTAINED

hope no one doubts that we should be prepared in such event to fulfill those obligations.

"Our object must always be to preserve those things which we consider essential without recourse to war, because we know that in war there are no winners."

He made a pledge to fight in France or Belgium were they victims of unjustified attack when he said:

"Our existing commitments which might lead to the use of our arms for a purpose other than our own defence are the final obligations of France and Belgium against unprovoked aggression.

"Britain also has treaty obligations with Iraq, Egypt and Egypt."

NON-INTERVENTION

Mr. Chamberlain declared for continuing Britain's policy of non-intervention in the Spanish civil war.

He said non-intervention was the "best means of avoiding a major conflagration."

The prime minister sounded an optimistic note on Britain's friendship talks with Italy, now under way in Rome, asserting they were "full of encouragement to those who regard appeasement in Europe as an objective to which the efforts of all men of good will should be directed."

Cheers again went up when Mr. Chamberlain said Italy had "now again" pledged her willingness "loyally to assist" in carrying out the British plan for withdrawal of foreign fighters from the Spanish civil war.

"What perhaps is more important is that they (the Italian government) repeated a declaration to the effect that Italy has no territorial or economic aims in or the Balearic islands."

OPPOSITION LAUGHS

Conservatives cheered this statement; the opposition laughed.

"His Majesty's government" place full reliance upon the intention of the Italian government to make good their assurances," Mr. Chamberlain went on.

"They believe that with a spirit of mutual confidence it will be possible through these conversations to reach a complete agreement."

Mr. Chamberlain disclosed he had "impressed" on Italy the necessity, if the talks succeeded, that she must not only agree to withdraw Italian soldiers now in Spain but also not to send reinforcements.

Mr. Chamberlain concluded with a reaffirmation of Britain's intention to speed rearmament, asserting:

"There must be an increase in some parts of the program, especially in that of the Royal Air Force and the anti-aircraft defence."

Jeering Labor members shouted the query:

"Why?"

NO COMMON SENSE

Referring to sanctions against Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, the Prime Minister said:

"In June, 1936, if we relain any vestige of common sense, we must admit we tried to impose upon the league a task which was beyond its powers.

"It is not necessary, for collective security, to insure the co-operation of every one of 58 nations still remaining members of the League provided we can get the co-operation of an effective number to present a front of overwhelming power to any potential aggressor.

NURSE IT BACK

"The best thing we could do for the League would be to nurse it back to health, because if we could make it wider and reinforce it, it might yet become the most effective guarantee for peace."

Members cheered this declaration, interpreting it as an invitation to the great powers outside the league—the United States, Germany, Japan, Brazil and Italy —to associate themselves with it. Mr. Chamberlain went on:

"If Britain is to make a substantial contribution toward the establishment of what is our strongest interest (peace), we must be strongly armed.

OPPOSITION SCORES

Voicing the views of the Labor party and others in the opposition that Britain should take a firmer line against Europe's dictators, Clement R. Attlee, opposition leader, followed Mr. Chamberlain.

"The Prime Minister has yielded to force," he declared. "He has left us and the world in the 1914 situation. There is nothing aircraft to be assigned to mobile forces in all parts of the nation and overseas possessions.

Already some $6,000,000 has been expended on a five-year Pacific coast - Hawaii - Panama canal seacoast defence program begun in 1936.

General Malin Craig, chief of staff, told the House of Representatives military appropriations subcommittee about $23,000,000 would be required to complete it, including $10,000,000 for anti-aircraft weapons.

The army's strategy has taken a westward course since the fleet was concentrated in the Pacific in 1932.

STRAW-VOTE IN TORY RIDINGS BACKS ANTHONY

LONDON, March 24.—A straw-vote in four strong Conservative constituencies on issues which caused the resignation of Anthony Eden as foreign secretary Feb. 20, has resulted in overwhelming endorsement of Mr. Eden's stand, the "Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction" announced today.

A count of 45,227 to 3,002 was announced for Mr. Eden on this question.

"Do you approve of Anthony Eden's stand for good faith in international affairs, and will you support his demand for the re-establishment of peace and security through the League of Nations?"

YOUNG LIBERALS ASK REPLACING B. N. A. STATUTE

VICTORIA, B.C., March 24.—The Vancouver Young Liberal Association today called for "comprehensive and adequate" legislation to replace the British North America Act as the constitutional basis of Canada's governmental system.

It assailed the "antiquated and misconstrued constitutional structure" governing the various legislative bodies of Canada, blaming it for the lack of Canadian unity and lack of solution of the problems of the past eight years.

"The people of Canada have never been united in spirit in spite of over 70 years of political union since confederation because of various sectional and provincial jealousies and prejudices," the association asserted in a brief to be presented to the Rowell Commission.

so dangerous as a policy of weakness, drift and uncertainty.

"The Prime Minister does not seem to realize the full gravity of the situation and the need for positive, not mere negative, action."

The Labor leader said he was shocked by Mr. Chamberlain's "amazing credulity" in accepting Italy's promises.

It takes about 1200 feet of wire to wire up the electrical circuits of a Martin Bomber; and about 5,300 feet for a Douglas DC-3.

HALF JASPER OFFERED HELP FIND PHILLIPS

No difficulty is anticipated in recovering the body of Phillips.

Reg Pugh, whose body was found almost clear of the slide, was an expert on skis and spent much of the winter months skiing with his brother Alan who, fortunately, got away from the slide safely.

Donald "Curly" Phillips has been connected with the development of Jasper Park ever since 1908, when he acted as outfitter for the railway survey through the mountains.

SCALED ROBSON

With Dr. Kinney he was the first man to scale the giant Mt. Robson and has been considered one of the best authorities on outdoor activities in Canada. He was particularly interested in developing waterway travel through the mountains and his sturdy canoes and boats are scattered all through the west. He was an expert builder of these and a Phillips built canoe can be found on the estate of Charles Bedeaux in France, shipped there several years ago on Bedeaux's return after his tractor expedition through the northern wilderness.

Many Edmonton sportsmen knew this quiet unassuming man very well and his fishing camp at Maligne lake is known all over the continent.

It is not expected that the bodies can be brought to Jasper before late Friday or Saturday.

Creek Rushes Roaring Into Wingdam Mine

WINGDAM, B.C., March 24.—The future of the Wingdam property of Consolidated Gold Alluvials was in doubt last night as managing director Ian Sanderson prepared to examine the workings, flooded Tuesday night by a surface cave-in which sent Lightning Creek roaring into the mine. No men were trapped by the flooding, though several just managed to escape. Wingdam is in the Cariboo mining district of British Columbia.

STRIKE VOTE IS ADVOCATED BY NEWSMEN GUILD

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—A strike vote against four San Francisco newspapers and one Oakland publication was recommended last night by the executive council of the Northern California Newspaper Guild.

Newspaper publishers informed Guild officials they could not agree to what Guild negotiations termed 12 fundamental demands, including the Guild shop, overtime and dismissal pay and no staff reductions because of putting the proposed agreement into effect.

A meeting was called for this coming Sunday to put the strike vote proposal before the Guild membership for a secret ballot.

The newspapers involved are the San Francisco Examiner, Chronicle, Call-Bulletin, San Francisco News and the Oakland Post-Inquirer.

As eggs may look much the same, yet vary in two respects —quality and size—it should be realized that eggs are graded according to standards established by the Dominion Government and are sold by grade.

Eggs represent a most important item of nourishment in almost every diet, and this grading gives the purchaser every assurance of quality and size desired; for it is required by law that all eggs sold in retail stores must be graded and the container marked with the grade name.

The grades are: Grade "A" (in three sizes: Large, Medium and Pullet; but of equal quality)—Grade "B"—and Grade "C."

Plea Made for Economic Co-Operation Between London, Washington

IDEA IS MOVE TO RESTORING OF CONFIDENCE

R. J. Boothby Warns Commons of Serious Financial Developments

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 24.—An appeal for establishment of bold economic co-operation between London and Washington as the most effective step towards restoration of world confidence and prosperity was made by Robert J. Boothby, Conservative, in a debate on unemployment in the house of commons Wednesday.

Declaring Great Britain was passing through a severe, although temporary economic crisis aggravated by the grave international situation, Mr. Boothby warned of more serious developments unless constructive action were promptly taken.

He referred to the drop in security values and commodity prices between September and December of last year as the steepest ever recorded "in the economic history of the world.

"It is matter of vital urgency to check it because if we don't succeed in doing so in the fairly near future I am convinced we shall have to face the possibility of a slump which will far exceed in magnitude the slump of 1929-33," Mr. Boothby continued.

"That would do more to bring about war than all the foreign policies you can imagine."

He hoped a responsible minister of His Majesty's government would be sent to Washington to explore the field of possible mutual co-operation.

BODY IS FOUND IN SNOWSLIDE, GUIDE MISSING

father, T. E. Pugh of Cardston, died Monday.

First word of the slide and the fear that Phillips and Pugh had been caught was brought to Jasper at 2 p.m. Tuesday by Allan Pugh, younger brother of Reg., who was skiing with them on a photographic expedition.

SKIED TO TOWN

In bad shape when he arrived in town, Allan had raced over the 20 miles from Elysium pass after a wild downhill dash had saved him from the slide that engulfed his brother. At the time he was not sure whether the others had been caught but they had fled in the opposite direction and he could not locate them afterward.

Members of the search party which located Reg. Pugh were Park Wardens F. Bryant and F. Welles, R.C.M.P. Constable Dagg and A. Nelles, a friend of the missing men.

Allan Pugh's story was that he turned around to put his rucksack down, when he heard a rumble and saw the slide bursting up the mountain. He fled and saw the others go in the other direction. When the slide was over and had filled in the valley, he returned and called but got no answer. He then hurried to Jasper for aid, leaving a note at the camp, a mile away.

Woodsworth In Demand Arms Export Embargo

FREDERICTON, March 24.—J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, asserted last night an immediate embargo should be placed on shipments of war materials to Japan.

"An embargo already has been placed on the shipment of such materials to Spain," he told the University of New Brunswick's Model League of Nations Assembly, "and failure of the federal government to apply a similar embargo on exports of war materials to Japan is inconsistent."

Escalator Clause Desire Reported

LONDON, March 24.—The Havas News Agency Tuesday reported the desire of the British and United States governments to invoke the escalator clause of the 1936 London naval treaty permitting them in case of necessity to build battleships beyond the 35,000-ton limit, was communicated to British, American and French naval experts here Tuesday.

France, however, was understood to plan continued adherence to the qualitative limit provided no continental power builds beyond it.

Editor Passes

TORONTO, March 24—Oliver Mowat Ross, well known former editor of numerous Toronto trade journals, died here Wednesday. He was on the staff of the old Toronto World and the Mail and Empire, where he served as city editor 1910. He is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter.

RAILS STATED HAMPERED BY COMPETITION

Government Spending Millions Which Hinders the Steam Carriers, Claim

OTTAWA, March 24.—Why should a solution for Canada's railway problem be sought, with so much money spent to cover deficits, while at the same time the country spends more millions devising methods of increasing the railways' competition, asked Senator Arthur Sauve (Con., Rigaud) in the senate Wednesday.

Mr. Sauve cited the government's financial backing to development of air transport as a case in point.

His query arose when he resumed debate in the upper house on the motion of Senator C. P. Beaubien (Con., Montreal) calling on the government to relieve Canada of the railway burden.

PROBE WHOLE

An amendment by Senator F. B. Black (Con., Westmoreland) would appoint a committee to probe the whole question, while a sub-amendment sponsored by Senator James Murdock (Lib., Ottawa) asks that committee to discover means of guaranteeing to the government an annual income of $75,000,000 from the railways.

Lack of planning and foresight was the primary error in building Canada's transportation system, said Senator Sauve.

"Then came motorized transport," said Senator Sauve. "Every government administration in Canada spent hundreds of millions to build roads designed to facilitate the transportation of goods by motor vehicles."

Smallpox Case Is Investigated

OTTAWA, March 24.—A departmental inquiry has been set in motion by Hon. C. G. Power, minister of pensions and national health, to investigate the circumstances under which a sailor suffering from smallpox was recently admitted to Camp Hill Hospital in Halifax, resulting in several others contracting the disease and extraordinary precautions to prevent an epidemic.

NEW LEASE OF RENFREW PARK RECOMMENDED

suitable lease for a period of five years from May 1, 1938, at a rental of $1,700 for the period of the lease at $340 per year, renewal (of the lease) to be dependent on whether Mr. Roche has recovered his investment, the agreement to be submitted to city council for its approval."

An existing five-year lease held by Mr. Roche, Clarence Campbell and Frank Hughes as trustees, for the Edmonton Senior Baseball League expires May 1.

Documentary evidence was produced at Wednesday's meeting that subsequent to the granting of the lease it was transferred by the League to Mr. Roche, who put up the money for improvements to the park. These improvements included a new fence, new foundation for the grandstand and renovation of the diamond.

City Solicitor Thomas Garside reported no official statement of the assignment of the lease to Mr. Roche had been received by the city, but aldermen took the view that communications produced at the meeting satisfactorily proved that Mr. Roche, to all intents and purposes, was the holder of the lease.

MORAL OBLIGATION

On his own behalf, Mr. Roche claimed he had made a substantial investment which still remained in the city-owned park, that he still had an unrecovered investment of $3,500 and that there was a moral obligation on the city's part to pay him that amount, since if the city took over operation of the park it would benefit to the extent of improvements that Mr. Roche had made.

The applicant produced evidence of a motion passed at a regular meeting of the Edmonton Senior Baseball League, of which he was president, transferring the lease held by the three trustees in its name to Mr. Roche, this assignment being given as a guarantee to Mr. Roche that he had a claim on the park for the recovery of his money, if possible.

Ald. Hugh J. Macdonald informed the committee that the understanding between baseball officials when the first lease with the city was entered into in April 1933 was that Mr. Roche should hold the lease in view of the fact that he was putting up the money.

PAID RENT

"Mr. Roche's money gave the city revenue from the Park," declared Ald. George Campbell. "To all intents and purposes he was the lessee. He paid the rent."

Deputy Mayor Ald. John T. McCreath, chairman, suggested as a means of recovering Mr. Roche's investment for him, that the city issue a new lease to baseball operators on the understanding that Mr. Roche would get his equity through the operation of the Park.

WOULD TAKE ALTERNATIVE

Mr. Roche then suggested to the committee that if there was no possibility of the city paying him for the unrecovered portion of his investment in the park, that he be granted another five-year lease with the option to extend it for still another five years at the same rental as was provided in the expiring lease—$1,700 a year. He stated he was only interested in recovering his money.

The committee finally adopted a motion providing for a five-year lease, details of the contract to be drawn up by commissioners, the city solicitor and Mr. Roche.

Pen Board Cost

OTTAWA, March 24—The Royal Commission on penitentiaries which has been conducting investigations in Canada, United States and Europe during the past year and will soon present its report, has cost, to date, $88,810, according to a return tabled in the house Tuesday.

RICE SHEPPARD DREW $312 FOR MILK INQUIRY

Rice Sheppard, chairman of the special committee appointed by Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture, following a resolution in a legislative committee, to investigate the control and operation of the milk industry of Alberta under the control of the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, drew allowances of $312 for his work on the committee, according to figures released by government officials on Thursday.

Walter L. White, of Edmonton, another member of the committee, also drew $312.

Total cost of the committee and its investigation was $2,000. Other members thereon were the following legislators: David Lush, S.C., Empress; William Masson, S.C., Wainwright, and W. R. King, S.C., Cochrane.

A return filed in the legislature in reply to a request by John J. Bowlen, Liberal, Calgary, had given amounts received by the three members of the legislature on the committee, but no mention was made in the return of Messrs. Sheppard and White, as Mr. Bowlen had

OFFICIALS AND OIL OPERATORS TO HOLD MEET

CALGARY, March 24—A conference of representatives of the Alberta government and Turner asked for payments made only to members of the house and neither Mr. Sheppard nor Mr. White are members of the house.

The committee sat over a period of several months and heard 30 witnesses.

Valley oil companies and operators will be held here Friday night.

W. S. Campbell of Edmonton, chairman of the Alberta Petroleum Producers' Association, said Friday the principal purpose of the conference would be to determine what barrelage of Valley oil could be assured the railways for transportation to Ontario.

It was believed if sufficient barrelage could be assured, the railways would grant a reduction in present freight rates, Mr. Campbell indicated.

Representatives of the Imperial Oil Limited and the British American Oil Company will attend the conference.

$10,000 Spent Provide Best New Features

Chili Con Carne Is Specialty At Newest Eating Place On Jasper Avenue Between 106 and 107 Streets

Ten thousand dollars have gone to make "Tony's Coffee Shop" one of the finest eating spots in Edmonton —and every cent of that large amount has been spent right in this city. That is the statement of Tony Erasmo, owner and manager of the new coffee shop.

Tony's chili con carne, now to be made in a bright new kitchen, complete with the most modern refrigeration and sanitary utilities, has won him fame among culinary-wise Edmontonians and is one of the many dishes to be served at his new location on Jasper avenue, between 106 and 107 streets.

OFFICIALLY OPENED

Wednesday evening at six o'clock the doors were officially opened as many of Tony's former customers flocked in to partake of the fine food served at the Coffee Shop. Twenty persons can be comfortably seated at the smart counter and a similar number accommodated in the booths.

A feature which is both modern and a decided convenience for patrons is the rest rooms in the basement for ladies and gentlemen. A ventillation system which assures a cool, fresh atmosphere is another factor which makes Tony's the popular place to stop.

Tony understands that to receive the best service from his employees it is wise to provide perquisites for them. On this plan he has provided a private shower and individual lockers for the staff.

CONTRACTING FIRMS

Local firms to whom the contracts for the shop were let include: Hayward Lumber Company, who designed, built and erected the fixtures; J. W. Mould and Sons, plumbing and steam fitting work; tric; and painting and decorating by Alberta Decorators Limited.

Madame Fogo, who has been acclaimed in Montreal and Boston as one of the finest clairvoyants today, will be in attendance. Teacup reading is her specialty, although she is remarkably clever at palmistry and card-reading.

After the show or dance, when you are wondering just where to go for that late snack, why not drop in at Tony's . . . you'll like it!

THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1938

The Dominions

London has a report that the governments of the dominions have been sounded as to their attitude toward the European crisis; and have replied that they would not back Britain if it interfered in the continental free-for-all, but would do so if it were attacked. If this report was not based on knowledge of facts, it is a mighty good guess.

Continental countries would not support the League of Nations and enforce collective security, which they knew was the only dependable safeguard against war. Canada cannot now save them, is under no obligation to try, and—it can be said with confidence—has no notion of trying. The other dominions, it is safe to assume, are of the same mind. If Britain should be attacked, that would be quite a different matter.

Out of Line

If anyone did not understand that the tide of recovery has not yet reached Alberta, the vote in East Edmonton on Monday should make that plain to him. The voters in great majority were not backing anybody's particular creed; they went to the polls to register an emphatic protest against the continuance of depression conditions in their community and their homes —and certainly did it.

While from British Columbia to Quebec by-elections have unvaryingly returned supporters of the Government, East Edmonton gave Mr. Kennedy twice the majority, and upwards of twice the plurality, given the Social Credit candidate two years ago. Not because he expounded the theory of Major Douglas — which was given only minor attention — but because he based his appeal on the fact that unemployment and its evil brood are still afflicting the electors.

Whatever new prosperity may have come to British Columbia and to the eastern provinces by reason of the marked revival of trade and the easement of monetary conditions, Alberta is still in the backwash of the depression. Conditions here are not growing worse; they are and have been growing better. But the betterment has not as yet called our idle thousands back into employment, nor enough of them to destroy the depression "complex".

Alberta is "out of step" with the rest of the Dominion, economically as well as politically.

Floods in the Dry Belt

Regina reports flood conditions in the southern part of Saskatchewan's "dust bowl," where seven successive crops have died of thirst and former streams and lakes have been marked only by empty indentations in summer. Low-lying land is under water, creeks and rivers are running full, lakes are filling up to levels not reached for twenty-five years.

This must be encouraging beyond words to farmers who have so often sown but reaped nothing, and to the townsfolk whose fortunes are linked with theirs. A good deal of the water will soak into the ground, enough no doubt to give the seed a start. And some of the lakes may stay lakes all summer, even if rain should again be scant, affording water for stock and providing some pasture around the shores.

Had the reclamation policy now being carried through on a modest scale been started years ago, planned on the scale demanded by conditions, and pushed ahead with vigor, a large amount of the water which will now run away and be useless for farm purposes, would have been held behind dams against the possibility of another season of drought.

The rehabilitation of the dry area was the biggest opportunity offered Canada to use idle labor in the years of depression, and the one which offered the most assured return on the money invested. Now the country, like the farmers, must wonder whether water, at present so plentiful, will be again lacking when mid-summer comes and the hot winds begin to blow across the plains.

The New "Entente"

United States, French and British naval experts are conferring in London on construction plans, as a result of Japan's refusal to say whether it is building battleships larger than the 35,000-ton limit set in the London naval treaty.

While they conferred, the House of Representatives at Washington approved, by better than a two to one vote, the administration's plans to spend a billion dollars in expanding the United States navy. The Government of Great Britain, it will be recalled, announced the other day a speeding up of armament-construction to cost $1,700,000,000.

These are "straws" which show the way the wind is blowing, and that it is blowing in the right direction. Those who read their newspapers attentively will have noted that these three countries have been strengthening their armaments on land and sea as the Trinity of Threat unfolded its plans for conquest in Europe, Africa and the Orient. They have been doing so without treaty of alliance, defensive or offensive, or convention of any sort. A mutual sense of growing danger has, fortunately for the world, impressed the peoples and governments of the three great democracies and led them to take concurrent action, without written agreement.

The conference in London means that they are taking this action each with knowledge of what the others are doing, though without obligation to join forces or make common cause should one be attacked by the gathering forces of Fascism. That decision will be made, instinctively, should the need arise. For back of the separate national programs, the people of each of these countries know they could not afford to let one of the others be struck down.

Editorial Notes

Mr. Unwin refuses to give the Dominion Government any credit for his release. The Government probably expected none.

Some of the members of the legislature seem to think the demonstration farms do too much of their demonstrating in red ink.

The United States has sent Japan a bill for $1,000,000 for the destruction of the Panay. It will be paid promptly no doubt. Else the apology would be a "bald and unconvincing narrative".

The Snake Dance having made its appearance in the chamber, members of the legislature might raise some revenue by staging the Big Apple and charging an admission fee.

Franco is pushing his drive against the Government lines as though he expects Mussolini will make a deal with Britain to take his troops out of Spain. And with a success which confirms the report from Cadiz a week ago that large new levies had been sent to his assistance.

"Once Aboard the Lugger—"

A Hamilton man, driving home late one night last week, stopped his car at the signal of the pointed thumb, took aboard two hitch-hikers. Once in the car, the strangers took possession. One of them flourished a revolver. The other drove the car into a side road where the owner was robbed and thrown into the ditch. He lost his money, his car, and, one imagines, his confidence in his fellow-men.

This is not the first incident of the kind, nor will it be the last, because some drivers refuse to be advised by the experiences of others and they let sentiment run away with their good judgment. "Look at that poor fellow asking for a ride," they say, "and this car with the back seat empty!" So they stop, and take aboard a passenger who probably is innocent and harmless—but who may be a criminal, armed and ruthless, placed in a position where the driver of the car is utterly at his mercy.

It is safer to pass by the hitch-hiker. It is supreme folly for a driver alone in his car to pick up two of them. It is a pity that the honest thumber should suffer for the sins of the criminal who looks upon motorists as easy marks, but self-protection is entitled to first consideration in such a matter.—Ottawa Journal.

Warning

Monsieur Van Zeeland's report is certainly the work of a master hand. Never has the formidably tangled skein of economic difficulties been so skilfully unravelled, never have the requisites of an improvement in the economic atmosphere been so clearly outlined. Monsieur Van Zeeland thinks and writes as an economist. He is not fettered to any political fetish. Moreover, acting alone, he has been able to give us a report free from the half-tones, compromises, and weaknesses of matter and manner that too often mar the work of committees and bodies, which must naturally take account of varying and sometimes even contradictory opinions. Accordingly his plan is the most uncompromising that has ever been put forward. Is this an advantage or a disadvantage? We can feel that Monsieur Van Zeeland was in some hesitation; in fact, he admits that he went over his conclusions several times. Economic conditions have indeed undergone great changes since the three-party declaration of the autumn of 1936, and the monetary reform it brought about. The will to co-operate shown at that time has certainly weakened. Once again political difficulties darken the horizon. Moreover, the economic recovery marking the end of the slump, which was noticeable in all countries, has now ceased. Output and trade are again on the down-grade, and once more there is talk of a slump. All Governments react in the same way to such facts. They withdrew into their shell and make arrangements to depend as little as possible on anyone else. Is this really the remedy? Must we not correct this line of thought and action? Monsieur Van Zeeland rightly thought that the nearer and greater the peril, the more drastic was the remedy required, and he proposed what he conscientiously thought necessary. The doctor has had his say; now it is up to the patient to decide the will to recover—and keep to the diet.—M. Suetens in the Contemporary Review (London).

Jews in Europe

What has happened since 1933 to the 500,000 Jews of Germany is dramatic; it attracted at first the attention of the world, and called forth the soli darity of the Jewish communities for a planned overseas settlement. What is happening to the million of Jews in Poland, Austria, Hungary, and Rumania is less dramatic, but more terrible; it has so far not attracted the serious attention of the general public, nor has it evoked in equal measure the solidarity of outside Jewry. The problem is that of over 5,000,000 men, women and children, full of energy and the will to live, intelligent and talented, who are not only denied the possibility of developing their capacities in their own country, but also increasingly deprived of the means of existence, and, in a narrowing world, denied the possibility of emigration. Of the 10,000,000 Jews in Europe, only 3,000,000, who are citizens of the Soviet Union, enjoy equality of opportunity, but, without individual or religious freedom; and 1,000,000 in the Western democratic countries, who enjoy both that opportunity and individual and religious freedom, have a fair chance in life. Of the rest, over 2,000,000 in Poland, nearly 1,000,000 in the kingdom of Greater Rumania, another 1,000,000 divided between a reduced Austria and a reduced Hungary, some 400,000 in Czechoslovakia—are living more or less well off—500,000 in Germany, and 250,000 between Latvia, Lithuania and Yugoslavia. They constitute an international social problem which cannot be solved by philanthropy alone, or by any efforts of the Jewish community alone, but requires the united efforts of the nations, such as was made by the States members of the League when 2,000,000 Greeks in 1922 were uprooted from the Ottoman Empire—Norman Bentwich in The Nineteenth Century and After (London).

Ontario's Budget

For the second successive year Ontario enjoys a balanced budget. Indeed, it claims a surplus of slightly over $3,000,000 and a reduction of nearly eighteen and one-half millions in the total funded debt of the Province in recent years. The most remarkable thing about the whole budget is, of course, the huge sum—$19,400,000—that has been turned in by the Succession Duties Branch of the Provincial Treasury. This large amount—one-fifth of the total revenue for the past year—has in large part been dug out of estates which were supposed to be closed. Last year sixteen millions in all were collected, in part also from estates similarly wound up under the old regime. In any estimate of Ontario's income for the past two years it must be remembered that all these millions came from a source that must eventually be exhausted, and that within a comparatively short time succession duties must drop to normal levels.

Certainly, the present Ontario Government has a number of things to be very proud of in the past year. Taxation has, on the whole, been reduced, and yet the Government spent a million more than ever before on free sanatoria for tuberculosis and gave an extra million to its elementary schools—Quebec papers please copy!—as well as finding an extra quarter million to meet the infantile paralysis epidemic of last summer and to carry on treatments of children crippled by it. On highway construction even more than generally supposed was expended, the great sum of $35,000,000 going out on this work alone. (We might also recall the fact that Ontario reduced its motor licences before a cent of this huge sum was expended last year.)

The great new eight-lane divided "Middle Road" between Toronto and Hamilton, just completed, cost a great deal of money, no doubt, but Mr. Hepburn's experts estimate that this road alone will bring in two million dollars in gasoline taxes this summer (another little point that Quebec might note), and that enhanced farm values along it will clinch the return on the investment. New roads, some of them paved, are penetrating into the northern mining areas. Big amounts are also going out to improve provincial institutions such as hospitals, asylums and prisons.

Taking it altogether, the new Ontario budget tells a remarkable story of progress at a time when business is supposed to be bad and the burdens of relief and aid of all kinds a heavy drag on the wheels. No doubt the critical examination of the Opposition to which it will be subjected will somewhat dull the rosiness of the picture, and we had better wait for that before passing final judgment. But the salient features of it will have a strong appeal for multitudes of Ontario people who do not worry about the succession duties on their estates or the return on the power bonds—but who have votes.—Montreal Star.

The Rowell commission is finding out that almost everybody is in favor of taxation—the taxation of other people.—Toronto Star.

Your Health

By DR. FRANK McCOY

The eggplant received its name, not because it tastes like an egg, or because it is often cooked with egg, but because of its shape. When properly prepared, it is a delicious vegetable. Many people who are prejudiced against it have tried only the fried eggplant and do not realize how healthful and flavorsome it really is when prepared in other ways.

Eggplant is of value in the diet because it is alkaline-forming, because it supplies cellulose which is helpful to the intestinal tract, and because it adds variety.

Eggplant should be prepared by boiling in plain water, by steaming, or by baking in the oven. Probably the simplest way to cook it is to first remove the peeling and cut into small pieces, after which it is boiled in just enough water to cover. When ready to serve, season with butter. Another wholesome way of cooking is to cut a large eggplant in two and then bake it.

Here are a few recipes which you may find interesting.

STUFFED EGGPLANT

Cook the eggplant for about 15 minutes in enough boiling, salted water to cover. Cut a slice from the top, and with a spoon remove the pulp from the inside, leaving about one-half inch of flesh close to the skin. Chop the pulp finely, add chopped ham, a small amount of Melba Toast crumbs, and a small amount of tomato pulp. Mix well, add a little chopped parsley and butter and the top after placing in the shells. Bake for 25 minutes.

EGGPLANT PATTIES

Chop an eggplant into small pieces. Add an equal amount of ground round steak and run mixture through food chopper. Mold into patties, place a slice of tomato on top and bake in oven until brown.

CORN AND EGGPLANT

To the contents of one can of corn add a small chopped eggplant and one well beaten egg. Place in a covered stewpan, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, and cook over a slow fire for 20 minutes, stirring frequently.

EGGPLANT AND TOMATOES

Cut eggplant in slices about one-half inch thick, soak in cold salt water for about 15 minutes, then boil in fresh water until tender. Place each slice in a baking pan on top of a slice of Melba Toast, then place a slice of tomato on top of the eggplant. Bake for 10 minutes and add a lump of butter to top of each when ready to serve.

FRENCH-FRIED EGGPLANT

Those who care for eggplant when prepared with oil or fat will like to try this method: Cut the eggplant in long slices and let stand for one hour. Dry on a cloth and drop into boiling fat or oil and prepare as when preparing French fried potatoes.

EGGPLANT AND CARROTS

One large eggplant peeled and chopped, one bunch of carrots well washed; run together through the meat chopper. Place in a baking dish and cover with cupful of water. Compress well and bake for 40 minutes. Add three tablespoonfuls of butter to the top just before serving, and season with salt as desired.

Questions And Answers

QUESTION—Bert E. asks: "In what way did mineral oil first come to be used?"

ANSWER: One story of how it came to be used tells us that the Indians discovered that an oily film found on certain pools was of value as a laxative. This film was the result of crude petroleum from natural wells which had come to the top and formed an oily layer on top of the water. Mineral oil as now used is obtained by refining the crude petroleum.

QUESTION—C. W. X. states: "A book I was reading made the statement that the energy derived from one-half of a peanut was enough to carry out one whole hour of mental work. Could this be true?"

ANSWER: Recent study in the field of nutrition has demonstrated that brain work really requires more energy and it is quite possible that one-half of a peanut would provide all of the food material which would be consumed during one hour of mental work. There is a lesson in this for the brain-worker, who may very easily overwork, he following the dietary schedule of one doing hard physical work.

QUESTION—Mrs. Thelma L. writes: "Really feel that I owe you a letter of gratitude. Last August I was feeling tired, dispirited, and discouraged. Happened to pick up one of your articles which advised walking. Now walk 20 blocks a day and am feeling fine. The tired feeling has gone, sleep better, am hungry for meals and altogether feel like a different person. Thought little girls would like to know how this simple measure helped me."

ANSWER: I am pleased to know that you have improved so much.

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History

By FRED WILLIAMS

This date is an historic one in the story of the Methodist church in Canada. It was on March 24, 1803, that a boy was born to a loyalist father and mother at Charlottesville, on the shores of Lake Erie—Egerton Ryerson. It was on March 24, 1825, 22 years later, that the same Egerton Ryerson, having joined the Methodist church and been expelled from his home for that reason, was ordained as a missionary and began, as a circuit rider, the career which made him one of the true makers of Upper Canada. Not college bred, he had secured through his own efforts an excellent education.

Egerton Ryerson had been only a year in the mission field when he was called upon by his brethren to meet aspersions cast upon them. Dr. Strachan, whose zeal for the Church of England had carried him to excessive language in some of his public utterances made bitter attacks upon the Methodists to whom he had moved open "detestation." The Methodists were at first disposed to disregard these attacks, but the terms in which the archdeacon referred to them in a sermon in 1826 compelled them to make reply. Strachan held them up as American in origin and feeling, as ignorant and shameful of learning, and as disseminators of disaffection to the civil and religious institutions of the mother country.

Ryerson took up the challenge, young though he was, and issued a pamphlet, signed "A Methodist Preacher," which is one of the most precious of all our civil documents, because it was the beginning of that great struggle which ended in religious equality and the discomfiture of those who would have made the Church of England a state church in Canada. Four years after his ordination (in 1829) Ryerson became editor of the Christian Guardian and fought for civil and religious liberty until he was won; but always with his pen and his mouth. He was always opposed to W. L. Mackenzie, whose resort to revolt he predicted long before it came. He espoused his cause not only in Canada, but in England, where he won attention; he founded Upper Canada academy, which become Victoria college, the first nonconformist in the British Empire; he laid the foundations of the school system of Ontario, and of the west, and before he died was recognized even by Strachan as a great Canadian, a devout Christian, and a constitutional reformer.

Sovereignty

Editor, Bulletin: This is written the day before the East Edmonton by-election. It will be interesting to note the reaction of the electors to the haranguing they have had from ministers of the crown and lesser lights.

While the Hon. Mr. Gardiner was telling audiences that the government of Canada controlled the Bank of Canada, or would in seven years, through a majority on the board of directors, the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, in a speech in the house of commons on March 14, pointed out that the governor and deputy-governor, borrowed from the Bank of England—and one director did as they liked with regard to the financial policy of the nation and submitted these doings to the directors four times a year. The governor and deputy-governor having a joint-power of veto in the affairs of the bank.

Mr. Bennett also told the house that while the Bank of Canada refused a loan to Ontario it had granted a loan to another province (probably Saskatchewan) of three million dollars which Mr. Bennett said he suspected would remain unpaid for some time. He did not mention the fact that Alberta had also been refused accommodation. But he did mention the fact that these transactions had been hidden because the form of the bank's weekly report had been altered by Order-in-Council for the purpose of hiding transactions the bank did not want people to know about.

The Hon. Ian Mackenzie, the Hon. Mr. Gardiner and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett in their speeches said that the Alberta legislation was disallowed by the Dominion government. None of the three mentioned the governor general in connection with that transaction. I wonder whether the people of East Edmonton are as curious as I am to know who gave the power of disallowance to the Dominion cabinet. It is certainly not given to that bureau under any section of the B.N.A. Act, for under that act "the power and place of a cabinet council have no explicit place in our constitution." This is the considered opinion of Dr. O. D. Skelton, under secretary of state for Canada.

According to the recent ruling of the supreme court of Canada the sovereignty over Canada which the people of Great British wished to hand on to the people of Canada has stopped short at Ottawa and has been usurped by a political bureau called the cabinet council. The people of the provinces are now as subservient to Ottawa as Austria is to Germany and I suspect that Archchild Unlimited wields the influence which has brought these "coups d'etat" about.

New Basis of Representation in House of Commons Is Recommended

GEOGRAPHY IS SUGGESTED AS PART GROUNDS

Population Basis Only Gives Industrial Areas Advantage, Probe Told

By CARL REINKE

Canadian Press staff Writer

VICTORIA, B.C., March 24.—A new basis of representation in the House of Commons, partly geographical and partly according to population, was advocated before the Rowell Commission Wednesday by the British Columbia Council of Women as a remedy to the "rather unfair advantage" now enjoyed there by Ontario and Quebec.

If provincial legislatures were also elected on a population basis, industrial districts would wield an "undue influence" on provincial affairs, the council contended.

LONG OVERDUE

"Federal reform in this matter is long overdue and might well be taken up for discussion at an interprovincial conference," declared Mrs. F. J. Ralston, Vancouver, council president.

In the first extensive submission so far made by a women's organization on the constitutional and financial problems being studied by the commission, the provincial council presented a series of specific recommendations for the strengthening of Canada's central government in the interests of national unity. "The problem is not provincial but national," Mrs. Ralston asserted.

SIMILAR POSITION

The Greater Vancouver and New Westminster Youth Council, with the Victoria Youth Council, took a similar position for increased Dominion powers in another submission.

Premier T. D. Pattullo earlier placed before the commission his government's views, which tended to support the existing division of jurisdictions between Dominion and provincial governments.

tery plants fell off; the workers could not give their minds to the making of lovely china and porcelain.

Clearly something had to be done and a town's meeting was called. It was attended by 4,000 football fans, the largest town's meeting in many years. Half an hour before it was due to start the doors had to be closed and a big crowd gathered in the street to hear the speeches relayed by loud-speakers.

Resolutions were passed and a deputation of leading manufacturers was appointed to convince Matthews that it was in his best interests to remain with Stoke City and that he would be made happy and comfortable.

The deputation went to work. The club directors were interviewed and then Matthews was seen. The delegates talked to the player for two hours and a half, but Matthews was found very difficult.

The whole town waited breathlessly for the outcome. There was no formal declaration from either Matthews or the directors, but by and by word went forth that Matthews' name was down as one of the team which would play Preston North End.

So everybody went back to business with a quiet mind and the lovely china and porcelain went into the kilns faster than ever. Elsewhere a number of First Division clubs abandoned the hopes they had entertained of including an international outside right among their players.

Preston North End, it should be added, was held to a draw on the fateful Saturday.

REPORTS of the loss of dangerous drugs by doctors have been rather frequent in recent months. In general they have been taken from the motor-car in which they had been left while the physician was paying a call.

The persistence of such thefts is giving rise to the belief that they are effected by illicit traffickers in drugs and it is on the cards that doctors may be made legally responsible for the safe custody of the drugs in their possession. The question is to be ventilated in Parliament.

Colonel Muirhead, an undersecretary, has been at pains to correct the impression that he had said, in answer to a question in the House of Commons, he did not know what the letters "Q.B.I." stood for—the official code warning to airmen of foggy weather.

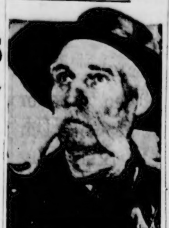

He explained that he had been asked the derivation, not the meaning, of the word. He added that first letter stood for "quite" and the last for "impossible."

The House roared with laughter, for the members were well aware that among pilots the letters stand for "Quite b——y impossible."

MEXICO CITY, March 24.—Mexico's national anthem swelled from the throats of thousands of overalled workers, congressmen, marching women and business men Wednesday in a huge demonstration celebrating expropriation of the foreign-owned oil industry as "economic liberation."

Some observers said 200,000 marchers took part in the "jubilee" organized by the Confederation of Mexico Workers (C.M.T.) to acclaim the presidential decree of March 18 taking over the $400,000,000 oil properties of 17 British and United States companies.

Near the end of the parade, the president told the marchers Mexico would pay for the expropriated properties, for it would not be just to leave this debt for future generations."

Clark Gable Has Fine Personality

Today Andrienne, widely known graphologist, analyzes the handwriting of Clark Gable, famous movie star, recently voted the most popular male screen actor.

By ANDRIENNE

A natural, spontaneous, likeable personality is found in Clark Gable. There is none of the subtle sentimentality and romantic aura that surrounds the typical matinee idol.

Clark is essentially wholesome, keenly interested in outdoor activities. His humor is very pronounced, even to the point of enjoying a joke at his own expense.

Dear Andrienne— This is a sample of my handwriting. Respectfully, Clark Gable

A directness of manner, honesty, and outspoken candor are seen in the open "a's" and "o's" in his writing. He could never be accused of employing tact, diplomacy or finesse. He is much too frank and spontaneous to resort to any subterfuge. He would have a healthy disdain for sham or hypocrisy, if he cultivated a little more tact in his dealings with people, he would eliminate many a difficult situation.

That Clark is a person of firm determination, persistency and independence of thought is clearly illustrated in the single strokes "p" and "g", strong "t" bars and hooked terminals. He would even be obstinate and it would take much to move him, once he has formed a conclusion.

Though a flashing temper is indicated, it is not one that would hold a grudge.

He may fool his public with his cynical, worldly characterizations, but to the graphologist who sees sympathy, sensitiveness, generosity in his writing, he cannot deceive. He certainly does not conform to the hard-headed skeptic he portrays so well on the screen.

LOVE LAUGHS AT THE DOCTOR

By Elinore Cowan Stone

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CONSTANCE MAIDWELL, heroine, the story teller

DEREK MANTHON, an artist who loved money first.

HILDEGARDE THORVALD. Derek painted her portrait

DR. ROGERS. He met his most difficult case.

Yesterday: . . . an incredible assignment. Connie is about to depart by plane for California with Dr. Rogers to stand in for Camilla Wynne. The time is getting short.

CHAPTER XII!

CONSTANCE said in a moment of recklessness, at which she was to wonder later, "I still have no reason to think you're not insane, but—well, " will take me a half hour to pack."

Before she got out of the car in front of her own house, Dr. Rogers took a wallet from his pocket.

"Since this is a business arrangement, Miss Maidwell," he said, "and since I don't imagine you habitually carry airplane fare to California around in your purse, I'd better give you something on account."

He stripped some bills from a roll and handed them to her.

"Here's enough to buy a round-trip fare—I don't want you to imagine you're being shanghaied—and a little for incidental expenses. Take a taxicab to the airport. You'll find a ticket waiting for you in your own name. I'll meet you in the plane."

He might, Constance thought, have been instructing a nurse in the morning room, in full confidence that every command would be implicitly obeyed.

"Aren't you taking a rather long chance?" she asked.

"If I thought so," he said with a short unmirthful laugh, "I'd bundle you up in a sack and carry you along as excess baggage."

And he looked for an instant grimly capable of doing it.

"You needn't be concerned about taking the money," he added a little impatiently as Constance looked uncertainly at the bills in her hands. "The boy's father will make it good, and he only too glad to pay you for any inconvenience this may cause you. . . . Now you'd better run along. Allow at least a half hour to get to the flying field . . . And, oh yes! Better take along some lightweight clothing. It will be much warmer there than here. Please don't be late. I've got enough to think about without waiting the floor with a watch in my hand."

Well, well, Constance thought. I'm getting ahead in life—from substitute for a clothes model to stand-in for a screen star—or am I?

She ran upstairs, her thoughts racing ahead of her feet. Light-weight clothing. . . . But all of her lighter clothing was still stowed away in the basement locker—except, of course, the new things for her wedding journey. She and Derek had been going south.

Well, she had bought them and paid for them, hadn't she? And this was the only journey she seemed likely to make for some time . . . There wasn't much time to choose with discrimination. Better take some sports things anyhow. . . . In the end, she put in any number of things she would probably never need, just because there was room.

She would wear the dark tailored suit with the silver fox fur and the cherry hat and bag. As she settled the hat over her hair, she smiled a little wryly at her reflection in the mirror, remembering that other occasion, in Derek's studio, when she had planned in a moment of happy delusion, I'll wear the tailored suit on the plane. I'm so glad I got the red hat and bag.

She was in her seat in the plane when Dr. Rogers came in. He greeted her very much as if he had unexpectedly recognized a pleasant acquaintance, chatted impersonally for a few moments; and then in the worst an air of finality back to his own seat.

Constance, who had never flown before, and who was in that phase of excitement that arouses companionship and self-expression, felt piqued and defrauded.

I suppose he's afraid someone will think he's flirting with me, she thought maliciously. But no. I don't believe that man really cares what anyone is going to think.

Then she saw that he had taken a telegram from his pocket and was studying it with bent brows, the line between his eyes deepening as he read. He wrote a reply and settled down in his seat, quite as if he had forgotten her.

Presently, however, with an air of suddenly remembering a duty that should be attended to, he came back and took a vacant seat opposite her.

"Do you know," he began with a rueful grin, "I don't believe it's occurred to me yet to say, Thanks! I—"

"Don't," Constance cut in. "I'm just beginning to realize that you're taking a good deal on me. I'm not an actress, you know. I'm only a clothes model—an amateur at that."

"You're an unusually adaptable young woman, if I'm any judge of human nature," he said. He'd be the last to deny that he was flattered by a shade with a flutter of irritation. "Elsa O'Dare, in whose judgment I have a lot of confidence, happens to be an old friend of ours. You don't suppose," he added, with a brief twinkle, "that I dragged you into my practice without taking the precaution of finding out something about you, do you?"

That, Constance realized, feeling a little foolish, was exactly what she had assumed.

"And just what," she demanded, "did Miss O'Dare tell you?"

"Not all she knew, I suppose. Only that when you walked into Daimler's that day, you had no more idea of modeling in a fashion show than—well, than I had. But you slipped into the situation with such engaging impudence and such amazing poise that she couldn't resist hiring you on the spot. . . . And," he added thoughtfully, "that she, personally, likes and respects you."

And that, Constance felt sure was all Elsa had told him.

"And now" — his friendliness suddenly merged into a briskly professional manner — "I think you'd better get to bed as soon as the stewardess can get your berth ready. I'll call her and—"

"Bed!" Constance said blankly. "But I never go to bed so early . . . Oh, you needn't take the trouble," she went on with malicious amusement as his hand moved in what she had come to know as an habitual gesture. "I have a watch, too."

She found herself disproportionately annoyed by his brisk shift from friendliness to this impersonal, doctor-of-fadiness.

"Though you may not guess it," she went on perversely, "I've really been out of boarding school for some time."

For a moment he examined her with that curious, tolerantly amused look she had come to recognize. . . . As if, Constance thought with growing resentment, he were trying to decide just what kind of unpredictable bag I might turn out to be. . . .

Finally he said—obviously trying to be patient—"Perhaps I'd better remind you that you may have a hard day ahead of you. You'll need all the rest you can get."

"Please don't worry about me, Dr. Rogers," she said; "I thrive on sleepless nights."

Without a word he turned stiffly back to his own seat.

Indeed! Constance thought, watching him with covert malice. We get a lot of fun out of standing off and feeling superior and amused, don't we? But it isn't so funny when people refuse to take us as seriously as we take ourselves.

She took a great deal of satisfaction out of sitting up a good hour after her usual bedtime.

Smuggled into her amazingly comfortable berth, Constance began to realize for the first time in that placid evening exactly what was happening to her.

Once in California, it was inconceivable that she should not see Derek. And once she had seen Derek, all the doubts and petty fears of the past few weeks would drop away like mist. She would know that being which had begun to possess her that Derek had gone away into another and different world, and by that very act, had become different, himself. She would be no longer even spoke a language she understood. She fell asleep dramatizing those first few moments with Derek.

There was a car waiting for them when they landed. The chauffeur who greeted a) knew Dr. Rogers well, said, "I am to take you directly to the ranch, sir. Miss Thorvald asked me to say she was sorry not to—"

"Miss Thorvald?" Constance said faintly. "Does he mean—is it the Thorvald ranch we're going to? . . . But I can't do that."

SENATE PUSH IS MADE FOR FRANCE UNION

Premier Leon Blum Is Turned Down By Upper Chamber Wednesday

PARIS, March 23.—The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday turned down a cabinet financial plan, despite the personal appeal of Premier Leon Blum, and in an official communique declared its adverse vote reflected its desire to see a national union government formed.

It was a defeat for the Popular Front government in its first test with the Senate, which caused the fall of Blum's first Popular Front last June in an issue over the emergency powers over finance.

The cabinet submitted two measures, the first to provide 5,000,000,000 francs ($150,000,000) in new loans from the Bank of France to the treasury, and the second to assign 2,140,000,000 francs ($64,470,000) surplus from the stabilization fund to the national defence fund.

The committee, by a 17-2 vote, rolled the two bills into one, approved the Bank of France increased loan, rejected the transfer of exchange fund profits and approved a single article from the second bill authorizing the national defence fund administration to issue short term obligations.

A major parliamentary battle was foreseen.

Canada to Have Fighting Air Force Minister Says

OTTAWA, March 24.—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of defence, intimated in an address to the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association today that within a year the Dominion would, in addition to land and sea defences, have a powerful fighting air force.

Delay in the Canadian program, he said, had been due in large measure to the gigantic program being carried out in England. Difficulty also had been encountered in getting big game in Canada, but it would soon be possible to obtain these.

Canada had a heritage, homes and human lives, to defend and the department of national defence was concentrating on protecting her coasts, Mr. Mackenzie said. The department was also concentrating on the preservation of Dominion neutrality, he added.

Instalment Will Hear Brintnell On Friday Night

Guest speaker at the meeting of the Edmonton Military Institute Friday night in the Prince of Wales armories at 8:30, will be Leigh Brintnell, president of Mackenzie Air Service, Ltd. The talk will be illustrated by motion pictures.

Following the address, Mr. Brintnell and Col. F. C. Jamieson, V.D., will debate the question of defence of the western provinces from possible attack from the north finishing with an open discussion on this important subject.

Junior officers' lecture will be given by an officer of "E" Troop, Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

Tickets will be available for the annual Vimy dinner sponsored by the Institute each year, and Col. Hugh Watson, V.D., the president, will be in charge.

What Prospect

WASHINGTON, March 24—The agriculture department said Wednesday current prospects indicated an United States wheat crop of about 630,000,000 bushels this year, compared with last year's harvest of 873,000,000 bushels.

Mother of Five Who Was Always Tired

Now Awakens as Fresh as a Daisy

A mother of five has a lot to do. Especially a country mother. And this one was "always tired". But Kruschen ended all that—now she gets up feeling fresh as a daisy o'clock in the morning! She writes:

"I find Kruschen Salts the best thing money can buy for my health. I am the mother of five children, and before taking Kruschen, I was always feeling tired and run down. Now, I am glad to say that I get up feeling fresh—and I get up at five o'clock in the morning! I do my housework, look after my children, and leave the house at 6:30 to start my daily work."—Mrs. B.

Tiredness and that run-down feeling can be traced to one root cause. That cause is internal sluggishness, for here to keep the inside free from poisonous waste matter. Kruschen Salts is an excellent recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The tiny minute salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clear of those impurities which, when allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system.

Cancer Being Treated With New Machine

TORONTO, March 24—Experiments are underway in Toronto General hospital with one of the world's most modern high-voltage X-ray units. Eight patients may be given low-cost cancer treatment at once with the huge new machine, designed by 29-year-old Arthur F. Jeans of Toronto. Heart of the apparatus is in two 400,000 volt X-ray tubes, worth $1,000 each and lasting 5,000 hours. Tube depreciation cost has been reduced to five cents an hour per patient.

Dickens' Players Triumph Over Six Other Groups To Win Chief Festival Honors

CHARLES DICKENS' characters said their lines again . . . and won the honors! With a host of widely different types of plays now available for oh-so-modern-audiences—comedy, mystery, psychological, social problem, history-in-miniature plays—it takes an old-fashioned, homey piece to carry off the laurels! At least it did in the Edmonton Little Theatre drama festival held in the Masonic Temple on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week, for it was the dramatization of Charles Dickens' "Proposal by Proxy" that was adjudged the best performance of the series.

"BEST ACTOR"

As if not satisfied with that, the players, who are all members of the Dickens Fellowship Society of the city, claimed the "best actor" award, for Mr. Val D. Nalty, who played the bashful suitor, Mr. Watkins Tottle, to the immediate and spontaneous delight of the audience, was named the best actor of the series.

Much credit for the splendid showing of the "Proposal" is due to its director-dramatizer, Fred Val Carey, without whose inspired directing and deep insight into the demands of the play, much of its sparkle, charm and freshness would have been lost.

"BEST ACTRESS"

Orchids to a lovely lady and to a clever actress . . . Ella Huston, who was adjudged the "best actress" of the series. Her vivid, whole hearted and sympathetic portrayal of "Miriam" in the Central United Young People's entry, "Captivity", was one of the highlights of the first night presentations of the festival.

Shield for the best play, "Proposal by Proxy", and the awards for the best actor, Mr. Val D. Nalty and for the best actress, Miss Ella Huston, will be presented later in the season when the Kerr trophy for the best individual performance in a major Little Theatre production of the season will be presented, it is announced.

CAPABLE JUDGES

Present to adjudicate the seven entries in the festival were Mr. Ronald E. Mitchell of the English department of the University of Alberta, Mr. George England, a well-known actor in University plays and Mrs. J. C. Biggs, well known authority on the theatre in Edmonton.

Touching briefly on the productions following the presentation of three plays on Thursday evening, Mr. Ronald E. Mitchell had some interesting things to say about each.

YOUTHFUL EFFORT COMMENDABLE

"The Last Race", from the pen of a newcomer to play writing, Mr. Cecil Young, was the first play of the evening, and had for its cast Richard Locke, Gordon Burton, Alex Graham, Arthur Clough, who was also director, Lawrence Tighe and Arthur Coombes.

Mr. Mitchell said of this play, "There was too much dialogue to "get over" to the audience the idea of the play . . . the audience knew what the actors were trying to say long before they had actually said it. Characters are stock characters and too much based on motion picture standards."

"Grouping," he said, "was good, every portion of the stage was used to speak from . . . movements of the characters natural and very easy. The climax was attained properly. Managing of the speaking over the loud speaker was good."

LARGE UNDERTAKING

Monumental in undertaking, the presentation "Transit," written by Philip Stevenson and produced by members of the Social Theatre, deserves much credit, much praise, said Mr. Mitchell in review. "Calling for a crowded stage, with beds literally strewing the space, and men lounging, sleeping, talking, fighting and quarreling between them, the play presents a double difficulty on a small stage.

Dilineation of character throughout left much to be desired, declared Mr. Mitchell, "it had the appearance of being under-rehearsed." Lines half-forgotten or not known, uncertainty of how to space adequately in limited stage dimensions, and incomplete understanding of the parts to be portrayed, detracted materially from the play.

HAD PROPER ATMOSPHERE

"What it did acquire," enthused Mr. Mitchell, "was the necessary atmosphere of bleakness, sordidness and squalor. One knew as soon as the curtain lifted, the bareness, the hatefulness of the New York "flophouse."

"Rude as some of the lines are, as some of the singing . . . and a trifle shocking, the audience ought to be able to "take it," declared the reviewer, "and not to titter when anything out of the ordinary or "not nice" is said or done.

Helmer Hober gave the best performance, this reviewer thinks, as the half-mad and surly "Benson," and other leading characters were good. Others in the piece were Victor Senko, Jim Grant, J. Nicholson, Berger Hanson, Chuk Yakimchuk, J. Alexander, Sam Yakimchuk, Jack Milne, Mike Flynn and Cecil Feldman.

Director was E. Anderson, his assistant, H. Weitz.

"ALI THE COBBLER"

Young people of All Saints' Anglican church repeated a former success for their part in the festival, that of "Ali the Cobbler" by Martin Shepherd, which won for them the "best play" award in the recent A.Y.P.A. festival. Possessed of a delightful comedy mood, gay laughing lines and powerful opportunity for farce, the play proved instantly popular to the audience.

"Starting off in a gay spirit, and with promise of fun to come," said Mr. Mitchell, "the play drooped part way through and did not keep as high a tempo and as sparkling a mood as the lines demanded." On the whole, however, he thought the play "well done."

Miss Winnifred Marshall directed the play, while Dorothy Jones looked after the properties.

Listing the plays in order of his preference for the festival, Mr. Mitchell named them as follows: "Proposal by Proxy"; "The Last Race"; "The Valiant"; "Transit" and "Ali the Cobbler."—F.D.H.

STORY LADY TO TELL OLD ROMAN TALE

This week's picture story will be "Androcles and the Lion." The story lady also has two other interesting stories: "The Wind, the Birds, and the Telegraph Wires," and "The Husband Minds the House." FIRST CHURCH Y.P. CLUB TO PRESENT PLAY

Age conquers youth in the drama, "Crabbed Youth and Age" which First Presbyterian Church Young People's Dramatic Group are planning to present in the church banquet hall on Friday, April 1.

Direction is in the hands of Stanley E. Wade and the cast consists of Alva Koerner, Janet Cown, Thelma Sutherland, Isobel Grant, David Bain, Joseph Tricky and Lorne Ross.

In additon to the play a musical skit has been arranged and will feature a mixed chorus of ten voices and the talented young soloist, Miss Ruth Morgan.

Irish Club Entertains At Whist Party

Inspiration of many a gay party, St. Patrick's Day is being "held over" to include all the delightful affairs arranged to honor the patron saint of Ireland and just recently members of the Echoes of Erin Club entertained at a whist party, following which dancing took place.

Held in the Alberta Avenue Hall, the affair was attended by more than 300 guests and was the ninth annual St. Patrick's party sponsored by the organization. Old time dancing interspersed the modern numbers adding greatly to the enjoyment of guests.

Honors at cards went to Mrs. T. Malone, Mrs. L. Harrison, Mr. G. W. Laidlaw, Mrs. A. Cudmore, Mrs. A. E. Smith, Mr. J. Garneau, Mrs. A. Smart, Mrs. A. Griffin, Mr. W. Louch.

Lucky number prize winners were: Mrs. J. Garneau, Mrs. Boyes, Mrs. Wigston, Mrs. Garnet, Miss E. O. Donnell, Miss O. Beck, Miss Seaman; Messrs. Boyes, D. Mellan, F. Nague, C. Finley, K. Nawelton, S. Bartram, R. Derome, W. Louch, R. Heidrick.

Mrs. R. Cullen, convener, was assisted by the other members of the club with arrangements.

Able Judge Is Appointed For Drama Festival

NEW YORK, March 24.—Barrett H. Clark, newly appointed adjudicator of the Dominion Drama Festival finals to be held in Winnipeg next May, says he hopes to see as many Canadian plays as possible in the contest.

Mr. Clarke, a native of Toronto, says he has a great interest in and a great admiration for what young Canadian dramatists are doing. There are about 50 authors of one act dramas in the Dominion who are "worth watching," he remarked.

Mr. Clark has written several books of theatre criticism, stage history and biography. He also has translated plays from French into English, and once served as an actor and assistant stage manager with Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske. At present he is executive director of Dramatists' Play Service, Inc., a concern which leases plays to non-professional theatre groups.

Miss Ann Vear and Miss Irene Petrie left by airplane on Tuesday afternoon for Yellowknife, where they will join the staff of the Corona Inn.

the social round . . . . .

REPORT has it that two of the wise men of Broadway were talking in a tavern just recently when one of them complained about the title of the motion picture, "A Slight Case of Murder," fashioned after the play of that name by Mr. Damon Runyon and Mr. Howard Lindsay. "That word 'slight' is bad," said one of the wise men, and the other agreed. "They should have changed that. It's sort of belittling, and it won't go big in this country. They should have made it 'colossal' or 'super' or something like that." Recording the incident in a couple of amusing paragraphs, the New York Herald Tribune states further that in the conversation of the two wise men perhaps is illustrated a typically American attitude which stems from the Hollywood mind, and which fails to recognize or respect anything, even a murder, that is not epic, gargantuan, immense, brilliant, sensational, stellar or smash. Otherwise it is not a sockeroo but a floppo!

SONG BEFORE SPRING

What word informs the pear?
What syllable persuades
The jonquils' pointed blades
To thrust against the air?

It is still cold. The day
Wakens in frosty light.
Frost ushers in the night.
In what most sutble way.

Does the news reach the root
Under the chilly ground?
Some sound that is not sound
Quickens the alder shoot.

Sap tingles like the blood.
Touch the bough, cold in sleep.
And feel the swift pulse leap
Warm in the living wood!

LEDUC, March 23.—Inspirational and most interesting address on the "Interdependence of Nations of the World" was given by Rabbi Eisen of Edmonton on Tuesday evening when he addressed a meeting held in the Talford hall under the auspices of the Leduc Board of Trade.

"Short Story" Discussed At Authors' Meet

Explorations of Sir Ernest Shackleton and Captain Scott awakened in him the spirit of adventure, which has led him to write of his experiences, Mr. Frederick B. Watt told members of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Authors Association and their friends when he was guest speaker at a delightful meeting held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Raver on Wednesday evening.

"The Short Story" was the subject of Mr. Watt's very interesting address, during the course of which he mentioned that he has already written several poems and a play of his experiences at Bear Lake and expects to write a long story taken from his diary.

Miss Kathleen Shackleton, of London, England, honored guest at the meeting entered in the discussion following the address as did members of the organization. Mr. H. R. Leaver suggested that short stories are an attempt to bring through the medium of language "a bit of living," and that the mechanics of short story writing is an attempt to relate cause to result.

Also a guest at the meeting was Mrs. Margaret Bentley, author of so many delightful poems, and who also includes among her works the charming little booklet of poems, "Singing Pictures."

Other guests of the society besides Miss Shackleton and Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Watt were Mrs. E. Miller, Miss E. Austin and Miss M. O. Buchanan.

Audience Meets Delightful Irish Family As "Vic" High Presents "The Far Off Hills"

MET some nice people on Wednesday evening—the Clancys. Must stop off at Glencarrig next time we're near Dublin and see how they're getting on . . . find out if Patrick's operation was a success, if "Pet" has mastered the Wedding March, and if "Ducky" has finally become an efficient stenographer . . . Delightful characters with which Lennox Robinson has peopled his popular Irish play, "The Far Off Hills," became just that real to an enthusiastic first night audience when members of the Victoria High School Dramatic Club scored in their annual presentation at the school auditorium on Wednesday evening.

The performance will be repeated on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the curtain rising each evening at half-past eight o'clock.

Responsible in large part for the success of Victoria High School productions in the last several years, Miss Eva O. Howard has a real genius for directing youthful actors. She knows her theatre, and she requires a high standard of performance from her players but she also knows young people, and her touch, although firm, is light enough to leave unspoiled their natural charm and freshness of treatment. Delicacy of portrayal and a fine attention to detail gave Wednesday's performance a finish rarely seen in amateur productions.

WHOLESOME FARE

Wholesome yet spicy; hilariously funny and yet sprinkled with pathos; interestingly "different" and yet typical of the life and loves of half the world, "The Far Off Hills" offered playgoers a dramatic menu as varied as it was enjoyable "an' sure the whole thing left a grand taste in your mouth!"

The young players showed wisdom in not attempting any accents but their voices were the soft rich kind that would have lent themselves easily to the Irish brogue. His voice, in fact, is the thing this reviewer chiefly remarked about Bob Kidney, who took the leading role, that of "Patrick Clancy." Mellifluous and resonant it was, and full of the quiet humor and patience that distinguished "Pat's" character. Mr. Kidney had a very heavy part and although he did not always seem quite sensible of the emotional depth underlying some of his little scenes, his acting was most effective on the whole.

Her voice a constant delight to listen to, her movements easy and graceful, and her performance showing a thorough knowledge of all the lights and shades of the character of "Marion Clancy," Eileen Hutchinson lived up to the promise she gave in the Victoria High School play last year in her work in the leading feminine role of "The Far Off Hills."

Laughing, quarrelling and teasing, appearing here, there and everywhere at once, Joy Brown and Daphne Surry captured the hearts of the entire audience with their interpretations of "Dorothea Clancy," who was never called anything but "Ducky," and "Anna Clancy," who was known as "Pet". Half imps, half angels, they brightened up every scene in which they appeared, their dialogue in Act II being one of the highlights of the play.

LOVABLE ROGUES

An equally lovable pair were "the two nicest, idlest men in Glencarrig"—Pat's "auld cronies"—"Dick Delaney" and "Oliver O'Shaughnessy," whose typical Irish temperaments found happy expression in the acting of Tom Levine and Don McCulloch.

Betty Knight gave her audience an intimate glimpse into the golden heart of the matter-of-fact "Susie Tynan," while Cliff Sandison provided the romantic interest in the play as her debonair, dashing nephew, "Pierce Hegarty," who by his own modest admission was a "bit of a rowser".

Good comedy bits were contributed by Art Craig as the lugubrious "Harold Mahoney," and Betty Renaud as the maid "Ellen," who avowed that love always flew to her teeth.

Mr. R. K. Colter supervised business arrangements for the production.

PRODUCTION STAFF

Inez MacDonald was assisted in doing makeups for the play by Helen MacCarthy, Queenie Wershof, Rita Haft, Eileen Thompson, Blanche Leavitt and Joe Shoctor.

Stage managers Bob Purvis and Fauntie Seward were assisted by Joy Yetzer, Frank Adamson, Stanley Woren, Herber Hughes, Alfred Willie and Bob Blythe.

Personnel of the school orchestra which played under the direction of Mr. W. R. Baker, is as follows: Ernest Nix, Allan Bryce, Roma Downie, Helen Selwood, Frances Bell, Molly Roseberg, Pat Hoby, Evan Wolfe, Graham Smith and Saul Ornest.—N. H. L.

Friends Honor Pair On 50th Wedding Day

SEDGEWICK, March 24.—To congratulate Mr. and Mrs. George Humes and to wish them happiness on the occasion of the golden anniversary of their wedding, a number of friends called at their home in Sedgewick recently. During the evening the guests of honor were made the recipients of a lovely picture and an electric reading lamp, presented to them by Mrs. R. A. Stubberfield and Mrs. L. Randall.

Mr. and Mrs. Humes, who have three children, were married in Missouri in 1888, coming to Canada in 1912 to homestead in the Sedgewick district. For the past twelve years they made their home in Sedgewick.

Your Bleach Desire Fades With Warning

By ALICIA HART

Tired as you are of your mousy hair, don't bleach it until you have seriously considered these points.

Your age. Bleached hair often makes the woman approaching middle age look hard.

Your coloring. Your particular skin tones may not look well at all against lightened tresses.

Your wardrobe. You'll probably need new clothes to go with your new hair. Unless you can afford a new wardrobe, think twice before you reach for the peroxide.

The state of your finances. Unless you can afford to go to a beauty shop once every two weeks for a "touch-up" job, don't bleach your hair. Also remember that a dyed head presents a most difficult problem to a permanent wave expert. If you decide to bleach, make up your mind that never again will you be able to economize on a permanent.

The kind of person you really are. Will you be able to admit, without embarrassment, that your hair is dyed, or will you always feel that you ought to deny the fact?

The opinions of the most important man in our life on the subject. No use having bleached hair if it makes your husband embarrassed to introduce you to his new boss.

How busy you are. Bleached hair calls for make-up applied painstakingly. Also, unless you can wash and set it yourself, better plan on two hours a week in a beauty shop.

Your features. Unless you have soft, ultra feminine ones, better do the best you can with the mousy brown hair you have.

HELEN JEPSON

Attractive, blonde Helen Jepson is probably the only Metropolitan opera star who was born in America and did all her studying in this country. During the opera or concert season, Miss Jepson gets up at 9 o'clock, vocalizes, then goes for a walk. She has a light lunch, then after lunch, rests and either reads or studies her score. At five she has dinner, which consists of a lamb chop, spinach, one-half grapefruit, tea or coffee—no more until after her performance. Her favorite color is turquoise blue and all her evening dresses that are not that color are white. She prefers simple, tailored clothes to all other varieties.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

I WONDER if women will ever acquire a philosophy of life that will enable them to accept the inevitable without kicking too hard against the things they don't like, and make them realize that if they can't feast on angels' food they can get a lot of nutriment out of roast beef and potatoes.

There are millions and millions of girls, for instance, whose whole youth is embittered by their not being attractive to men. Perhaps they are homely. Perhaps they lack the come-hither look in their eyes. But, however it is, they do not possess that mysterious, indefinable something that makes men flock about a girl like bees around a honey pot. They never have dates. They are never in on the good times of other young people. They spend their evenings at home with Papa and Mamma reading an improving book. And when they go to parties no boy of his own volition asks them to dance. They paper the walls entirely with determined hostess shanghais an unwilling lad into taking a turn with them.

What these girls suffer would make a tear-compelling chapter in the Book of Martyrs. No victim at the stake ever went through greater torture than they endure in being burned up with shame at being overlooked by men. And, no matter what else they may possess in the way of money or social position or intelligence or home surroundings, it does not compensate them for their lack of popularity with boys. Life is cinders, ashes and dust.

But, strive as she may, there is nothing that the girl who is unattractive to men can do about it. She is just that way. If she lacks sex appeal, she lacks it, and no earthly power can give it to her. What a pity then, that these girls, instead of breaking their hearts in futile longings for the impossible, don't make the most, do not accept the limitations that Fate has put upon them and make the most of what they can have.

What a misfortune that Dateless Dora can't shrug her shoulders and say: "Well, what of it if I am not a hit with the boys? There are plenty of other things to enjoy. Books and travel, work and ambition, making my own place in the world and the companionship of interesting people, and the very men who will never call me sweetie will like to call me friend."

Then there are the millions of disillusioned wives who spend their lives beating upon their breasts and proclaiming to all and sundry that they are the most miserable creatures alive. Many of these Niobes are married to men who are kind, generous, good-natured and easy to get along with, and who swathe them in luxuries and give them a high social position in the world. But, alas and alack, sometimes the husband is a philanderer, and sometimes he is just a plain prosaic business man who takes his wife for granted and pays more attention to his business than he does to her.

She wants poetry, romance, thrills and to be the ONE and ONLY, and because he doesn't give them to her she considers marriage a total failure. What a pity that she can't do a little balancing of accounts and see that a beautiful home, charge accounts at the best stores, pretty clothes and good cars offset a lot of the storybook stuff.

Then there is age, which is woman's greatest headache. Probably 90 per cent. of the women in the world worry themselves sick over growing old. Every gray hair is a tragedy. Every pound lost or gained a calamity. Every sagging muscle a disaster. It is trying to ward off age that makes them spend their money in the beauty shops and endure all the pangs of semistarvation, yet in spite of all they can do, Time marches on and they cannot stop it.

What a pity that they cannot take age philosophically in their stride and instead of fighting against it make the most of it and enjoy it. For no other time in life really has so many privileges and compensations because by then their problems are settled and they can sink down into a placid enjoyment of what is left of life.

No woman ever knows what real happiness is until she is 60 years old and realizes no man is ever going to look at her again and doesn't care if he doesn't. What a pity women haven't a real good workable philosophy of life!

Tea More Than Just Something To Drink

Raising A Family

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I am leaving baby's physical care to your doctor and to you, mother, but his health and comfort bear so directly on disposition that perhaps we might go over a few points together in general.

No baby is really sunny and sweet who does not feel very well. No baby will be "good" if his stomach is upset or if he is hungry. Many a child is hungry, as we know, who is being fed regular meals of high-quality milk. O. R. Barton and the full quota of permitted rations. This is because his digestion may be slow in assuming its responsibilities. Some few darlings cannot assimilate much of anything at first.

Fortunately, most babies do well on the diet that modern doctors prescribe. But even so, it continues to be a matter for deep study.

So, no matter how healthy your little one is, I suggest professional backing when it comes to foods. Pester the doctor and ask questions. It is a great feeling to know that you are on the right track, if nothing more.

CHECKING UP

It is now almost a universal custom to have the new baby checked frequently, then once every month or so, depending on his condition. It is a good idea at such times to have ready for the doctor a list of questions about the things you want to know, such as enlarging or changing formulas and adding extras. And to have another report ready for his information. Weight-gain (it should be steady); the precise food formula you are using; the doses of codliver oil; all about his sun baths, and everything there is. It will save time to have it down in notes, and will help the doctor make changes he thinks best.

It is also a good idea for the inexperienced mother, who knows little about "handling" a baby, to invite a nurse in for half a day, or a more experienced friend, to show her the tricks of easy bathing, and explain about oil rubs; methods of keeping food containers boiled; ways of insuring against germs; how to keep baby's bed smooth and dry, with easy changes of pads; how to dress him for the weather and how to pin a diaper nicely so it won't jump or slide. In an advisor is out of the question it is often possible to go to a class on baby care.

It sounds complicated, but actually the right start is practical and very worth while, because a comfortable child is a happy one, usually, and his sunniness has much to do with his attitude towards people, and theirs toward him, as well.

Me an' Baby is keepin' our candy-bars in the bottom drawer ob our bureau till we stops givin' it up.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Tea is lots more than just something hot to drink. Try it some time about four in the afternoon when you feel fagged. Many American offices are now serving it to their employees because it picks them up and gives them a "second wind" on their work.

All tea in the United States is imported and must pass government standards. Tea is classified into three general divisions. There are the black or fully fermented, the green or unfermented, and the oolong or semi-fermented teas. Americans drink mostly the black type, the bulk of it coming from Ceylon, India, Java, Sumatra, Formosa, China and Japan, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Black tea is separated into five grades—Flowery Orange Pekoe, Orange Pekoe, Pekoe, Pekoe Souchong and Souchong. These terms do not have any specific reference to the cup quality of the tea. Nor does the word "Orange" indicate that the scent or flavor of oranges is present.

KEEP COOL AND DRY

Tea should be kept in a dry, fairly cool container. The container should be of some material that does not absorb flavors and odors—preferably of metal. The composition of a cup of tea varies both with the tea and the way it is made. Tannin, caffeine, and the volatile oils are the most important constituents of tea. Tannin gives tea a brisk, pungent flavor, caffeine provides mild stimulation. Many persons believe that the volatile oils make the most difference in tea flavor. The "body" of a cup of tea depends on the achible materials that come out into the liquid as the tea steeps.

Better make tea in a pot of earthenware, porcelain or glass. Scald the pot first. The teaspoon of tea is the standard measurement per cup, but it makes a fairly strong infusion. Water for tea must be freshly drawn. If water is boiled too long it gives a flat taste. If water is allowed to stand on tea too long, tannin is extracted and the tea tastes bitter. Never boil tea. Let it steep from 3 to 5 minutes for best results.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas, dry cereal, shaved maple sugar and cream, date muffins, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Lentil soup, hard rolls, grapefruit salad, chocolate nut bars, tea, milk.

AFTERNOON TEA: Hot buttered scones, guava jelly, tea.

DINNER: Boiled halibut, dill pickle sauce, puffy potato croquettes, grilled tomatoes, romaine salad, French dressing, cherry lattice pie, coffee, milk.

When brushing excess powder off your face, be sure to use downward strokes only with your powder brush. For whether you can see it or not, there's a trace of soft down on every normal skin. If you brush against the grain, this down will become visible. So brush it gently downward.

What To Do

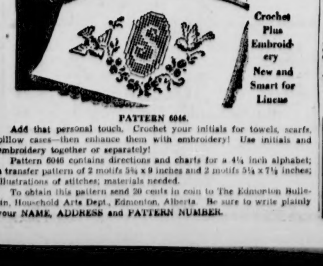

I wonder if you could help me with a party of twelve children from the ages of 3½ to 5? I have in mind a party starting at 12 noon, gathering the children from kindergarten and having a luncheon of lamb patties, mashed potatoes, a vegetable, milk, ice cream and birthday cake. My problem is how to keep these youngsters busy and contented until 4 o'clock, when tea will be served to the mothers when they come to take the children home.

PUZZLED MOTHER.

Answer—Take an adequate supply of peanuts, animal crackers, gum drops, lollypops, mints, popcorn, small inexpensive toys and tiny dolls and wrap each one in bright-colored crepe paper, silver and gold paper and cellophane. Hide them around the living room. After lunch give each tot a paper bag and tell them to hunt for the gifts. Findings are keepings, but the package must not be opened until you say so. When the bags are full, have the children sit on the floor in a circle and open the various packages. After the Seewhat-I-got excitement dies down have the children continue to sit in a circle. Have one child leave the room while another hides a peppermint stick in the sight of the others. Then the child outside is called in and begins to hunt. As he gets near the candy the children clap loudly for "warm", as he moves away they clap softly for "cold". Each child who finds the peppermint stick within a stated time may keep it. You might also play Going to Jerusalem and Dropping the Handkerchief.

Catalogues For Bull Sale Here Are Now Ready

Edmonton Bull Sale catalogues have been issued by the Edmonton Exhibition Association, Limited, and contains listings of one hundred and twenty-five purebred Hereford, Shorthorn, Aberdeen Angus and Red Poll bulls from contributors in Northern Alberta, the herds from which these bulls come being some of the finest in Alberta.

Bulls of the Shorthorn breed predominate, with a goodly percentage of accredited animals. Herefords and Aberdeen Angus bulls total 50; Shorthorns 74, and Red Poll 1. The sale is scheduled for Thursday, April 7, with Auctioneer J. W. Durno officiating, assisted by Earl Lanyon, Edmonton.

Catalogues are free, on application to Edmonton Exhibition Association. All bulls sold are T.B. tested, and special shipping arrangements are made for the convenience of purchasers.

WINNIPEG, March 24—Grain inspections (Wednesday): wheat, this year 151, last year 95 cars of contract wheat 11? oats 42-?; barley 38-5; flax 0-0; rye 0-1, other grains 0-1.

WHEAT PRICES MOVE HIGHER

WINNIPEG, March 24.—Winnipeg wheat futures averaged a cent higher in listless dealings today, principally because of higher Liverpool quotations and improved buying by importing countries. Final quotations were ¾-1 cent higher, May $1.16⅝, July $1.07⅝ and October 91⅛ cents.

Business was virtually at a standstill after the initial hour. Canadian export business of 250,000 bushels was reported.

Liverpool moved ⅜-¾d higher. Buenos Aires climbed ⅞-1⅛ cents at noon.

ANGLO GIVEN BACKING FROM EASTERN FIRM

CALGARY, March 24.—Financial backing of the Anglo-Canadian Holding and Development Company, Limited, by Nesbitt Thompson and Company, Limited, of Montreal to the extent of $1,726,000, was announced here today.

The announcement was made by F. P. Byrne, vice-president of Anglo-Canadian, at a special meeting of shareholders, and was approved.

The new financial backing will enable the company, Mr. Byrne said, to carry out its development program in the Turner Valley oil field and to participate in drilling test wells in other fields of Alberta geologically approved.

Increased capitalization was approved by the shareholders. The capitalization will be increased from 1,000,000 shares of no par value to 3,000,000 shares of no par value.

It was also decided to change the name of the company from the Anglo-Canadian Holding and Developing Company, Limited, to the Anglo-Canadian Oil Company, Limited.

The following were elected to the directorate: H. R. Milner, K.C., and W. S. Campbell of Edmonton; C. C. Ross, M.L.A., F. P. Byrne, H. A. Howard and W. C. Egbert, K.C., all of Calgary.

Many Edmonton and district residents are interested in Anglo-Canadian affairs, the stock being handled here by A. J. Huff. In addition to its own large holdings Anglo-Canadian is the parent company of Foundation, Monarch Prairie, Firestone, Westflank and Spy Hill companies already producing, and of Sundance, Frontier and Coronation, now drilling, as well as controlling Drilling Contractors Ltd., one of the best equipped drilling companies in the Turner Valley field.

CALGARY IRKED OVER DECISION OF AUDITORSHIP

CALGARY, March 24.—Dominion authorities decline to confirm the sum of $71 as the maximum allowance for relief recipients and state that the federal auditors must determine if that sum is less than normal earnings of unskilled labor in any particular district, according to a letter received here yesterday by Mayor Andrew Davison from A. A. MacKenzie, commissioner of relief and public affairs, Edmonton.

"The $71 maximum has been set by the city and will apply and if the federal authorities try to say it is an excess amount there is sure going to be a battle," said Mayor Davison.

"This letter shows the difficulty in trying to get anywhere with the senior governments," said the mayor. "Calgary set the $71 maximum when asked to do so by the provincial government, then asked the federal authorities if that maximum would be satisfactory and the federal authorities now reply the matter will be left to the auditors."

RELIEF WILL BE PROBED IN MEDICINE HAT

Special Investigator To Be Nominated By Provincial Relief Branch

Relief conditions in Medicine Hat will be investigated by a special investigator to be nominated by the provincial relief branch, it was decided by the legislative agricultural committee sitting on Thursday in the course of its investigation into relief.

The nomination is expected to be made in the immediate future.

Representations were heard by the committee from Rev. Richard Upton, of Bellevue, who spoke on behalf of the Crow's Nest Pass unemployed, who are asking for increased relief assistance.

NORMAL CONDITIONS

Sale of 2,000,000 tons of coal a year to eastern Canada would restore normal conditions in Crow's Nest mining towns, he said.

Motion to investigate Medicine Hat relief conditions was moved by R. Earl Ansley, S.C., Leduc, and the investigator will report back to the committee.

Dr. J. L. Robinson, S.C., Medicine Hat, presented a letter from Mayor Isaac Bullivant of Medicine Hat, stating present relief granted to Medicine Hat was insufficient.

PROBE SUGGESTED

Spokesman for the Medicine Hat unemployed, A. Weiszbeck, directed criticism at relief administration and suggested a probe.

He contended that food, clothing and shelter were insufficient and that the food allowance was not up to the advisory committee's scale.

The Medicine Hat city council's attitude toward the unemployed also drew criticism from the speaker.

He asked that the city of Medicine Hat be instructed to increase its food allowances by 25 per cent., and that proper clothing, increased rental allowances be granted, as well as permitting all property holders to work off their taxes.

OUT OF LINE

Dr. Robinson said Medicine Hat did not receive grants in aid in proportion, and were out of line with those received by other provinces, and in reply Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief, said that the grant was in line.

The grant in aid to Medicine Hat in February was $2,200. David Lush, S.C., Empress, said that relief conditions in Medicine Hat were deplorable.

Dr. Cross said that no complaints had been made regarding relief at Medicine Hat.

INOCULATION OF SCHOOL PUPILS ENDS THURSDAY

First inoculation treatments in the diphtheria prevention campaign undertaken by the Edmonton Public School Board's medical department were completed Thursday morning in city schools. This protective measure requires three inoculations in all, and the second treatment will be administered in about three weeks' time.

Dr. Gordon S. Swallow and Dr. F. J. Folinsbee, school medical inspectors, directed the annual campaign which was first adopted by the school board ten years ago. Since that time only four cases of diphtheria among school children have occurred, and of these only one child had been inoculated against the disease. The other three had never been treated.

EVA SAITO IS WINNER RADIO TALENT PRIZE

16-Year-Old Pianist Captures Honors on Program Wednesday, March 16

Eva Saito, sixteen-year-old pianist, registered at Victoria High School, is the winner of the March 16 program of The Edmonton Bulletin's Search for Talent contest. Miss Saito was presented with a five-dollar cash prize from The Bulletin and a suitably engraved sterling silver bracelet from D. A. Kirkland, manager of Henry Birks and Sons. She will appear as guest star on the Strand Theatre's Community Sing, next Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock. As an added distinction, she will be one of the featured artists at the Civil Service dance in the Macdonald hotel on April 8.

Six students were heard between eight-thirty and nine o'clock Wednesday evening, on the fourth program in the Search. Ballots appear in the Bulletin Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, and it is through this medium that the readers of The Bulletin may express their approval of the students' efforts.

GALA REVUE

Sometime towards the latter part of May, a gala revue, featuring the winners and some of the better talent unearthed in the Search will be presented in the Empire theatre. Adult talent will also be used and Foster Hewitt, whose familiar voice greets all Canadians each Saturday evening from the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto as he says, "Hello Canada", is coming from Toronto, to be master of ceremonies, working with Sid Lancaster of CFRN. Proceeds from the concert will be used to further the work of the Kiwanis Club in keeping up the Kiwanis Children's Home.

Harry W. J. Maddison, president of the Kiwanis Club, in a short address Wednesday evening, on the Search for Talent program, thanked Foster Hewitt for coming to Edmonton as the guest of The Bulletin and the Kiwanis Club, and asked listeners to support the Search for Talent revue, as in this way they are directly helping the boys and girls of the Kiwanis home, who need their aid.

NOT FINAL CONTEST

The Bulletin - Kiwanis Stage Revue, at the Empire theatre, is not the final in the Search for Talent.

The listeners last week, placed the artists of March 16 program in the following order:

1. Eva Saito.
2. Walter Miller.
3. Val Havelock.
4. Betty Orchard and Ethel Geldart.
5. Wyncna Moody.
6. Wanda Bennett.

Winners of the five two-dollar cash prizes for listeners were:

Mrs. P. Knight, 12228 82 street.
Iona Cross, 9011 103 avenue.
S. R. Honey, 9124 106 street.
Mrs. I. Moore, Round Hill, Alta.
Phyllis Sutton, 10246 Wadhurst road.

The Bulletin carrier-salesmen who will be guests of Manager Long of the Rialto theatre are: Vernon Curry, Bill Watt, Robert Hurley, Jack Johnson, Norman Canale.

TRACE OF SNOW FALLS IN NIGHT

Although a "trace of snow" fell on Edmonton sometime after midnight, no signs of it remained Thursday morning, the temperature at 9 a.m. being 34 above, and the forecast at that time was "fair and mild."

On Wednesday the mercury went up as far as 41 above, registered at 3 p.m., while the lowest reading up to 9 a.m. Thursday was 25 above, registered at 6 a.m.

Readings on near north thermometers at 8:30 a.m. Thursday were slightly higher, the warmest spot in the region being Father with 35 above, while Keg River took the other road to turn in the coldest report of 10 above.

The far north both gained and lost in the weather game early Thursday, Aklavik being lower at 20 below, while Fort Norman pulled itself above the zero line to register 10 above. Dawson, with 12 below, was tied with Fort Simpson, while Lower Post was just under the line at 2 below.

Normal School to Be Closed at End Of Current Term

Strong Opposition to Closing of Teacher Training Centre is Launched by W. N. Chant, M.L.A., in Debate

Establishment of a new technical training centre in the building now occupied by the Camrose Normal School may be a development from the closing of the school, Premier William Aberhart, who is also minister of education, hinted in the legislature on Wednesday, during discussion of departmental estimates in committee of supply.

The Camrose normal school will be closed at the end of June, leaving normal training to the Edmonton and Calgary schools.

Strong protest against closing of the school was launched by W. N. Chant, Independent, Camrose. He moved that the vote under which the subject was being discussed, be referred back to the provincial treasurer for further consideration but this motion was defeated.

VOCATIONAL TREND

Premier Aberhart declared that the trend of present-day education was in the direction of vocational lines.

He said that ultimately the building would be used for other purposes, although it was not expected anything could be done this year as no provision had been made in the estimates.

The Camrose plant represents an investment of $250,000.

H. H. Hall, M.L.A., drew attention to a vote of $43,000 for education, maintenance and transportation of deaf and blind children and he said that the Camrose school might be used for housig these children instead of sending them to an institution outside the province.

The total vote for the Camrose school this year is $5,900 as against $27,260 last year.

SHOULD BE STUDIED

Mr. Chant contended that the whole subject of closing the school should be more fully investigated.

Premier Aberhart declared that no fewer than 2,800 teachers had taken the summer school courses last year and that the Normal schools at Edmonton and Calgary could readily take care of these desiring Normal education.

In the past it had been considered that there was room for three schools, said S. A. G. Barnes, S.C., Edmonton. He did not believe in hastening decision on closing the Camrose school. Further consideration of optional training on vocational lines also was suggested.

NO PENSION BILL

E. L. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader, asked if a bill providing for teachers' pensions would be brought in at this session.

Premier Aberhart: "No bill for teachers' pensions will be brought in at this session so far as I know."

D. M. Duggan, Alberta Conservative leader, said the house should be given more information as to its policy regarding Normal school education.

Weighing Of Coal Is Provided For

Weighing of coal instead of measuring it, as is done at present, is provided for in an amending bill to the Coal Mines Regulations Act, introduced into the legislature on Wednesday by Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines. It was given first reading.

Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, introduced a bill to amend the Old Age Pensions Act, to confirm Orders-in-Council, extending Dominion-provincial agreements respecting old age pensions.

Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief, introduced two bills respecting hospital agreements.

Police Court

Convicted of operating his truck in the country without being licensed or having obtained the necessary permit, Ben Logatinski, Edmonton trucker, was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs when he appeared before Magistrate A. H. Gibson in police court Thursday.

* * *

Two other motorists, Lennie Lambourne and Stan Williams, charged with operating motor vehicles without having drivers' licenses, were ordered to get licenses and bring them to court to show them to the magistrate.

* * *

Albert Douglas Keen, 18, was convicted on a charge of operating an auto without the owner's consent. He was remanded until Saturday, March 26, for sentence.

* * *

Edmond Vandette, charged with a breach of the Juvenile Delinquents Act, was granted an adjournment until March 28.

Presides

J. E. GIROUX

of Calgary, who, as chairman of the Alberta branch, will preside at the annual meeting and dinner of the Alberta Branch, C.M.A., to be held in the Macdonald hotel at 6:15 p.m. on Friday, March 25.

The Inquiring Reporter

Members of the House of Commons have been debating the advisability of having the government sponsor sweepstakes as a means of securing revenue to be devoted to public service. "What do you think of this scheme." The Bulletin Inquiring Reporter asked and here are the replies:

F. H. INGRAM, merchant: It looks as if there isn't much to be said, as the government turned the proposal down. The question has been discussed for several years and still has not made much headway.

JEAN HOWARD, steno: I suppose people think that having the government use sweepstakes as a means of obtaining revenue would set a bad precedent. Whenever it got into financial straits, it could sponsor a sweepstake. But it seems to be working out all right in the old country, and is not being exposed to much abuse.

* * *

H. CLANEY, elevator boy: Having the government sponsor sweepstakes would certainly put these ventures on a new basis. Maybe that is why there is so much feeling against taking such a step.

* * *

CECIL CLARK, salesman: Maybe I would win a sweep if it were run by the government. And then, maybe not. Fancy having a government give you big returns for a small investment. On second thought, I think I am for the system as it now stands.

Proposed Report Be Referred To Agric Committee

Reference of the report of the committee that considered teacher training and Normal schools to the agricultural committee will be proposed in the Alberta legislature by W. N. Chant (ind., Camrose).

Mr. Chant also will propose that all parties desiring to make representations be heard by the agricultural committee.

Mr. Chant is contending the committee's investigations were incomplete.

NO PROVISION FOR RAISING AGE LIMITS

Allowances For Children Under Mothers' Allowance Act Discussed

Additional appropriation of $200,000 a year would be required to provide funds to raise to 18 the age at which allowances for children under the Mothers' Allowance Act would cease. Hon. W. W. Cross, minister of health informed the legislature, sitting in committee of supply on Wednesday discussing health department estimates. A present allowance is made for boys up to 15 years old and girls to 16. The vote for this service is $633,075.

Dr. Cross said that no provision for such raising of the age was being made.

Asked if any provision had been made to equalize the age at which allowance stopped, Dr. Cross said there had not. It is estimated, Mrs. Edith Rogers, S.C., Ponoka informed the house, that $70,000 would be required to equalize the ages of boys and girls.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Public health department estimates ratified by the house, totalled $2,500,000. These funds are for the fiscal year commencing on April 1 next.

Dealing with a vote of $20,500 for care of infantile paralysis cases, Dr. Cross, in answer to questions said that under this, all cases were dealt with regardless of whether they were infants or adults. He said that there were 40 infantile cases now in hospitals of the province and 42 or 43 in homes and as soon as the acute stage was over these cases would be removed to hospitals, either in this city or Calgary.

The government is to give assistance in rehabilitation of persons afflicted with the malady.

CANNING FACTORY

Announcement was made by the minister during the discussion that the Ponoka mental hospital was to have its own canning factory installed in the immediate future. His statement was made in reply to a question by Mrs. Edith Rogers, S.C., Ponoka. The plant will be operated by a member of the staff using vegetable produce grown in the hospital gardens.

Dr. Cross stated that there are now 1,726 patients at the Ponoka mental hospital. It was originally designed to accommodate 1,200. Enlargement of the Oliver mental hospital will take care of "not quite 500," the minister said.

Appropriation of $69,255 under the Child Welfare Act drew some questioning and the minister pointed out that there are now 1,324 children being taken care of by wards of the province.

Members queried every vote which was increased over the previous year, but none were changed. Two motions for deletion of items were moved, but both were defeated.

GEORGE RAIT, CITY POLICE OFFICER, DIES

Acting-Inspector George "Geordie" Rait, 63, 12214 107 avenue, veteran member of the city police force and prominent in city Masonic circles, died of a heart seizure at his home at 1:30 a.m. Thursday following an illness which has kept him in bed for the past three weeks. He had been troubled with a heart condition for several years past.

Born in Aberdeen, Scotland, Inspector Rait was a member of the Aberdeen City Police before coming to Canada and to Edmonton in 1913. He joined the city police force here in June of 1913, was promoted to the position of sergeant in 1914 and two years later became detective sergeant. For 20 years he was desk sergeant and about a year ago was promoted to the position of acting inspector. In his youth he was an enthusiastic swimmer and possessed several awards he had won in Aberdeen.

He was a member of the Masonic Order and was Master of the Dominion Lodge in this city.

Chief A. G. Shute referred to Acting Inspector Rait as "a conscientious and efficient police officer and a good citizen. His death will mean a great loss to the police department and to this city. My sympathy goes out to his wife and family."

Besides his wife he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Harold Publicover and two grandchildren in Edmonton and several relatives in Scotland. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Foster and McGarvey.

Edmonton clearing house figures for the week ending Thursday, March 24, totalled $3,463,999.47. Figures for the corresponding week last year were $3,641,890.99.

FARM COUPLE HELD BLAMED BOY'S DEATH

Custodians of Orphan Failed to Call Physician For Illness

FERGUS, Ont., March 24.—A coroner's jury, inquiring into the death of 11-year-old Harvey Sneider from inanition, returned a verdict last night that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes of North Garafraxa were "negligent in not calling a medical doctor in time to arrest the disease."

The jury also criticized the Children's Aid Society of Picton, which placed the boy on the Hayes' farm for neglecting to make persona calls after receiving unfavorable reports. The jury recommended that when a society inspector receives an unfavorable report he should make an immediate personal investigation.

Harvey died in hospital March 10 and at Guelph Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were charged with manslaughter in connection with his death. Dr. Norman Kyle told the jury death could have been averted if medical attention for the boy had been called in January or February.

Testimony was heard that the boy, an orphan, weighed "about 60 pounds" when he died. He weighed 100 when placed on the Hayes' farm.

Credit Unions Teach Average Man Use Credit Scientifically

FUNCTION IS DESCRIBED TO BANKING BODY

Borrowing Money Is Asset To Be Protected, Members Are Taught

OTTAWA, March 24.—The big job of credit unions is to educate the average man to use his credit in a scientific manner—to have him realize it is an asset to be protected and to be used to help him to a fuller life, Prof. A. B. MacDonald, managing director of the Nova Scotia Credit Union Society, told the banking and commerce committee of the Commons Wednesday.

Prof. MacDonald, who as assistant director of the existing department of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., played a large part in the preliminary education work for setting up Maritime credit unions, outlined the history of the movement.

18,000 MEMBERS

In January, 1933, the first Nova Scotia Credit Union was organized. Today there are 120 unions with a capitalization of $500,000. In 1937 they loaned approximately $750,000. There are 18,000 members.

The idea has spread through the Maritimes and now Prince Edward Island has 29 and New Brunswick 32. Every province in Canada except British Columbia has credit union legislation, said Prof. MacDonald.

CLOSELY ASSOCIATED

Unions in general are formed by closely-associated persons, such as workers in one factory or in one government office building, he explained. Credit unions are for closely-knit groups with some common bond "involving common knowledge of each other and common interests."

Loans were made to members for "improvement and productive purposes at rates not exceeding one per cent a month on unpaid balances.

"Human nature is growing very perfect in Nova Scotia," commented Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, when Prof. MacDonald said as far as he knew credit union loan losses were zero though no extensive study had yet been made.

DENSEST FOG IS BLACKOUT FROM NATURE

Thick Vapor Shrouds Southern England as Air Defence Practiced

LONDON, March 24.—A dense fog over southern England last night ended the most phenomenal three-week period of sunshine in the British weather bureau's history and brought normal life to a standstill.

Channel traffic was demoralized. Slowly moving boats on the south coast nosed together and ran aground or dropped anchor.

In the Southampton-Portsmouth area the government was forced to cancel airplane participation in the greatest peace blackout staged in southern England since the Great War.

SIRENS SCREAM

More than 5,000 volunteers raced to their posts when sirens screamed a warning to start air-raid tests involving 600,000 persons in the area.

The grey fog blanket masked even the glimmer of air-raid emergency lighting by which dock workers loaded and unloaded freighters. Locomotives shunted box cars about the yards with the aid of special smoke-screened lamps. Signal lights were covered with a secret-formula blue paint.

BERTHS ARE DARK

Ocean liners lay in their berths completely dark. Channel steamships, when able to find their way through the fog, managed with all deck lights extinguished.

Along Southampton and Portsmouth streets automobiles used hooded headlights. Street curbs were marked white and pedestrian crossings yellow. Volunteers in gas masks fought brightly blazing test fires and carried away mock casualties amid the crashing of bombs that were mimic projectiles.

Airplane Accident Action Is Opened

REGINA, March 24.—Second case of its kind in Canada, hearing of a damage action from an airplane accident, opened in King's Bench Court here Wednesday before Mr. Justice H. Y. MacDonald.

Plaintiff in the action is John Finch, Regina, while defendants are Charles Skinner, Regina aviator, and Sneers Airways.

The action arose from an accident on the farm of William Hoffman at Zehner, Sask., in February, 1937, when a machine flown by Skinner with Finch as passenger turned over while taking off from a field.

Joe and Annie to Have House—Maybe Mansion

TORONTO, March 24.—Joe and Annie Lichtig, bride and groom of less than a year, soon will be able to afford a small home of their own. And if Rock Lad wins the Grand National steeplechase Friday they will be able to have a big home too.

Joe and Annie, both 22 years old, scraped together enough pennies from their meagre earnings as knitting-mill workers to buy an Irish sweepstake ticket this year. They combined both their names and wrote "Joanie" on the nomde-plume on their ticket.

The ticket was drawn Monday on "Rock Lad," the only Canadian-owned horse in the big race. Joe and Annie refused $2,600 for a half share of their interest. No matter how the race comes out they will receive $2,300.

But they also have a chance for $150,000 first prize. Rock Lad, a 100-1 shot, is owned by H. R. Bain, Toronto, broker.

VANCOUVER FEARS SERIOUS TROUBLE FROM WORKLESS

VANCOUVER, March 24. — The Vancouver city council, in a telegram to Hon. Norman Rogers, federal minister of labor, last night appealed to the Dominion government for temporary relief aid and declared "the relief problem as submitted to the Vancouver city council by the provincial government is beyond our financial power to carry out."

"Your government's help is urgently needed if serious trouble is to be avoided," the tiegram continued.

The council also provided for airmail letters to be sent to Vancouver members of the House of Commons, putting the "desperate situation" before them.

The move came at a special session of the council after fears were expressed thousands of destitute men would congregate here when provincial relief camps are closed down.

SASKATCHEWAN LEGISLATURE IS PROROGUED

REGINA, March 24—Fourth session of the eighth Saskatchewan legislature was prorogued at 10 o'clock last night by Lieutenant-Governor A. P. McNab, who gave assent to 96 bills approved during the 43-day session.

The session marked one of the heaviest financial programs ever laid before the province, with total estimates, ordinary and supplementaries, exceeding $60,000,000, of which the federal government will assume $26,200,000 for relief expenditures.

The budget anticipated a deficit of nearly $2,000,000, less any additional subsidy Ottawa may grant the province and which last year amounted to $1,500,000.

Trans-Atlantic Air Services Are Parley Topic

DUBLIN, March 24.—Canadian, British, Irish and United States aviation experts conferred here Wednesday on projected trans-Atlantic air services to be flown by Great Britain's Imperial Airways and the United States' Pan-American Airways.

Commander C. P. Edwards, chief of Canadian aviation, represented the Ottawa government.

Both companies hope to begin mail services late this summer as a prelude to opening a regular passenger schedule but it may be some time before Imperial Airways will have all the planes it considers necessary.

PSEUDO DRUNK REVEALS WAYS FOOLING FOLKS

NEW YORK, March 24—George (Scotty) McKay, 47, disclosed in court Tuesday his technique for selling 13-cent signet rings for 50 cents. He would stagger around on a corner and offer a ring for sale to passers-by. The customers, generally thought that because he was tipsy they were getting a bargain. Scotty was sentenced to five days on a disorderly charge.

CANADA HAS ONE PUBLIC BOARD TOLD

Native Sons of British Columbia Decry Sovereign Aims of Provinces

VICTORIA, March 24 — The Fathers of Confederation intended that the provinces should be "glorified county councils" but instead they are now seeking to operate as sovereign states, the Native Sons of British Columbia submitted Wednesday before the Rowell Commission.

"No other parliament has been content to let individuals seek interpretation of the constitution in test cases and has accepted judgment in such cases as constitutional direction," said H. A. McKelvie, spokesman for the organization.

"There is but one public in Canada, not a separate public for each province. There is only one parliament," he said. "Provincial legislatures are subordinate branches or offices of parliament created for the administration and control of local works, being in effect exalted county officials."

He contended there was no intention that provinces should possess unlicensed power to create new debt, for subsection one of section 91 of the British North America Act stipulated that public debt and property within the exclusive power of parliament. Borrowings were to be under control of the governor-general in council.

GRETNA GREEN'S ANVIL NUPTIALS MAY BE ENDED

LONDON, March 24. — The famed "anvil marriages" of Scotland's Gretna Green would be abolished under a bill presented to the House of Commons Tuesday.

No longer would the little Scottish border town be the mecca of runaway lovers if Walter Elliot, secretary of state for Scotland and author of the bill, has his way.

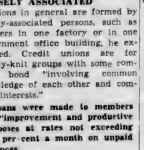

For years the pulpit and parents' organizations have railed against the marrying nimbies of Gretna Green, where for centuries marriage has been merely a matter of mutual consent.

I.O.O.F. Cup

WETASKIWIN, March 24.—The I.O.O.F. Wetaskiwin Lodge, won the Armstrong cup for Alberta having increased its encampment membership more than any other in the province. Oddfellows from Lacombe, Brooks, Edmonton and Millet, to the number of 30 visited the lodge on Wednesday to convey congratulations. Grand Patriot Dawson presided.

It is said that there has never been published a book that did not contain some sort of error, either of subject matter or of grammatical or typographical make-up. The book said to be nearest perfection is the Bible, which has gone through scores of thousands of editions, reprints and such that there has been ample opportunity to eliminate such errors.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON

By ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand was played at a weekly duplicate game in which I participated. This was an eleven table section and we were the only East and West players who received a plus score on the hand for a top. The point that I wish to bring out is that defensive bidding sems to be somewhat lacking in most players who are not in the expert class.

"The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	*1 spade	Double	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 spades	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

"West's spade overcall was the bid that upset the North and South pair. As you can see, there was an easy four spade contract in the North and South hands.

"You will no doubt be surprised to find West, with this type of a hand, daring to put in bid with his holding. However, the result was very satisfactory.

"I was West. Against the two no trump contract I opened my fourth best club and South and North were helpless. If I had not bid at the first opportunity I am sure the North and South pair would have reached a four spade contract (which was the bid at most of the other tables).

"Assuming that South had allowed the one spade doubled contract to stand I would have bid two clubs, and then the opponent could have known that my spade bid was psychic.

"I believe that defensive bidding is an important element in duplicate contract bridge, and when hands like these come up one must take some action, otherwise he might as well be a robot.

"What is your opinion?

"Yours truly, F. C., Chicago."

I am grateful to this correspondent for bringing up a point that has been somewhat neglected in bridge writings. But, despite this gratitude, I cannot be enthusiastic about the psychic spade bid that encompassed the downfall of North-South. Its success was due solely to the subsequent bad bidding of North and South, particularly the latter, who apparently never had encountered a psychic bid. South's bidding throughout was very bad. In the first place, he should have opened with one no trump instead of one club, his five bare honor tricks and 4-3-3-3 distribution conforming perfectly to the maximum no trump requirement. Had he started with this bid North would have known that South had at least three spades and, therefore, would have insisted on playing at a spade contract. But South's opening bid would not have been fatal if he had later carried on intelligently. He should not have dreamed of taking out the no-trump double. In fact, with his substantial honor strength and spade holding, he should have welcomed such a double with open arms.

To show how many errors South had to make, however, in order to "fix himself," he still had the opportunity to reach a correct spot after North's two spade bid, which he should have raised. His persistent denial of spade support is hard to excuse. I do think that North might have made one more effort by bidding three spades over two no trump. But this is only the most critical, advanced for the one reason that North must have suspected that West was psyching and that South was "at sea."

In conclusion, it is my opinion that West's psychic, a very dangerous type, by the way, did not deserve much credit, because it was a clear case of stealing candy from a baby.

E.A.C. DEFEAT SASKATOON CHIEFS 6-3

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Story Stuff

It Was Rough

Retort de Pug

THERE was plenty of the stuff that story books are made from in last night's hockey battle. Mel Lunde played the star role that thousands of kids have dreamed of doing—and he played it as dramatically as any movie director could ask.

Throughout the greater part of the season Lunde has sat on the bench as his team-mates fought their way to the city, provincial and far-western championships. He turned out to practices as faithfully as any first-string regular. When Coach Stan Moher kept him on the bench and sent others out on the ice game after game, there was never so much as a protest from Lunde.

Then last night he got his chance. Both clubs were convinced that the first goal would probably be the deciding one and they fought for it from the first whistle. But when Lunde drove in that 66-foot shot to score it, it was no mere accident.

Mel didn't fire in the general direction of the goal and cross his fingers. He was shooting at a corner—one of the corners of the net in which Coach Moher had hung targets and drilled his players to hit them with their shots during long hours of practice. Those hours of firing at targets paid off with entry to the western Canada final. When the E. A. C. counted that first goal of the game, Saskatoon Chiefs had to open up and go after one to match it. That is all Moher and his men wanted. They soon got the other markers they needed.

There Were Anxious Moments

THAT third period upheaval when 10-minute misconduct penalties were handed to Darling and Sawchuk of the E. A. C. within a few minutes of each other, when fans threw programs and chairs on the ice in protest and when the Chiefs tore into the disorganized Clubmen for three goals in five minutes, will long be remembered.

It was a crucial period. Had the E. A. C. lost, it is more than likely that Duke Keats and Claude Small, officials in charge of the game, would have had to have police escorts to save them from being mobbed. It would have gone down in most fans' books as downright robbery.

However, neither official could be blamed for those misconduct penalties. Both Darling and Sawchuk earned them under the rules. But if the officials were right on that point they certainly left themselves open for criticism by the way they passed up a lot of charging, holding and high-sticking by the Chiefs especially and, to some extent, by the E. A. C.

Apparently this sort of stuff is encouraged in Saskatchewan on the theory that it puts more punch into the game. That may be the reason that Small, a Saskatoon man, saw nothing wrong with it. However, Saskatchewan teams paid highly for their robust hockey this season. One player got a broken leg and another will probably lose the sight of one eye. Dr. Hardy, vice-president of the C. A. H. A., in charge of western playoffs, is certain to insist on cleaner hockey in the next series here.

Pug Young Is Practical

THAT rugged Irish rearguard, Pug Young of the E. A. C., is a practical youngster who doesn't believe in wasting his efforts. When he hits an incoming forward, that forward is well and truly hit. Last night in the third period, when the fans were tossing chairs out on the ice, Pug went over and handed a chair back to a box seat holder.

"What's the use of throwing them on the ice if you don't hit that referee?" Pug demanded.

That pointed remark stopped the barrage of chairs from that particular sector of the Arena.

It Was For the Best

HOWEVER there is one point that both the E. A. C. and their back on it as a mighty valuable supposition. The players had a vivid demonstration of just what penalties can do toward changing a victory into a loss. Many times during a game the opposing power play is dangerous but it is doubly so in playoff hockey. They work faster either.

One Game Here For Sure

AT the moment it is not certain where the games of the western finals will be played. The first is here Saturday, in the three out of five series. That is definite. However there is a possibility that the second may also be here. Otherwise the series will switch from place to place, Winnipeg to Regina. However, there will be plenty of hockey here even if other games go away, as usual.

Calgary is anticipating the opening of their new arena for the Allan Cup games. The Cow Town rink is reported to be one of the finest in Canada. One or possibly two Allan Cup games will in all likelihood come to Edmonton.

SPORTS BULLETIN

Gil Pearson Meets Coast Wrestler Friday Evening

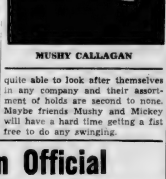

That fairest of the fair in the eyes of feminine wrestling fans, Gil Pearson, features the double-semi windup on Friday night's card at the Memorial Hall, when he exchanges flying tackles and body slams with Vancouver's Billy Meyers.

Gil, who gets most of his ideas for spinning, throwing and slamming his opponents around from the antics performed by the hearts of his pretty admirers, battled Cliff Parker to a fair-thee-well last week. But he spoiled it all by missing a flying tackle and landing in the second row of spectators. Parker had little trouble pinning his shoulders to the mat when he staggered into the ring again. His opponent is fast, strong and rough, and friend Pearson will have to have his flying-tackles clicking if he hopes to win.

Jock MacRae and Cliff Parker meet in the other half of the windup, while Emil Van Velzen and Paul Pitcher, of Truro, N.S., tangle in the curtain raiser.

Closing the evening's festivities will be one of those wild donneybrooks between a team match. Two of Calgary's dirtiest meanies will climb through the ropes against Larry Jacobsen and Maurice DeBlicek, both of Edmonton. The would-be thugs are Mushy Callahan and Mickey Martin, who have found that swinging fists, eye-gouging and even biting are perfectly swell ways to weaken an opponent.

The Edmonton pair are two of the classiest grapplers in action in the entire Dominion. They are both strong, husky laddies, who are quite able to look after themselves in any company and their assortment of holds are second to none. Maybe friends Mushy and Mickey will have a hard time getting a fist free to do any swinging.

ST. BONIFACE QUALIFIES TO OPPOSE E.A.C.

WINNIPEG, March 24—St. Boniface Seals held off a determined rally by Port Arthur's gallant West Ends last night to score a 3-2 win and take the best-of-three junior hockey series in two straight games.

Seals carry Manitoba colors along the trail Winnipeg Monarchs followed to the Canadian championship last year. The St. Boniface win put them in the western final.

5,000 ATTEND

A capacity crowd of 5,000 attracted by the sparkling display in the first game when Seals nosed out a 4-3 victory, saw the Manitoba champions take a 3-0 lead in the first two periods. West Ends came storming back in the final session to rap home two goals but they could not get the equalizer.

Goalie Jack Hall of Port Arthur was sensational in the closing period while his team-mate, Alf Dunk, was serving a penalty. Three times Seals drove in on the clever netminder only to have him make magnificent saves.

Herb Burron took a relay from Jack Simpson four minutes after the game opened to put St. Boniface ahead. Bill Reay made it 2-0 at the eight-minute mark with Bert Janke assisting.

JANKE IS STAR

Janke, hard-hitting defenceman, provided his second assist in the middle period as Herm Gruhn took a pass to put Seals three up.

Bill Maison scored West Ends' first goal at 10:33 of the final period and two minutes later Port Arthur's outstanding player last night, Bob Young, whipped up a pass from Bert Andreola to beat Doug Webb in the St. Boniface nets. All goals were scored with the teams at full strength.

SUMMARY

First Period: 1—St. Boniface, Burron (Simpson) 4:00. 2—St. Boniface, Reay (Janke) 8:22. Penalties: Gruhn, McGregor, Maison.

Second Period: 3—St. Boniface, Gruhn (Janke) 13:06. Penalties: Poole 2, Janke.

Third Period: 4—Port Arthur, Maison, 10:33. 5—Port Arthur, Young (Andreola) 12:36. Penalties: Maison, Dunk.

Verdun Blanks Quebec Beavers

MONTREAL, March 24—Verdun Maple Leafs blanked Quebec Beavers 3-0 last night in the first game of their total-goal series for the Quebec junior hockey championship. The second game will be played at Quebec Friday, the series winner continuing in the Memorial Cup playdowns against either Perth Blue Wings or Halifax Canadiens.

Sudbury To Meet Oshawa Generals

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., March 24—Sudbury Cub Wolves qualified last night to meet Oshawa Generals in a Memorial Cup playdown by scoring three goals in the overtime to defeat North Bay Trappers 8-5 for the Northern Ontario Hockey Association junior title.

Pacing the attack for the Cubs was Wingman Doug Bruce, who scored five goals. McReady, Sudbury defenceman, came next with two goals, while Sutherland got the other.

Grand scored twice for Trappers, while Paquette, Jackson and V. Russell each got one.

Alta. Avenue Club

The Alberta Avenue curling club will hold their sixth annual banquet and dance on Tuesday, March 29 at the Masonic Temple.

Drillon Given Official Crown N.H.L. Scoring

MONTREAL, March 24—Nobody had any doubt about it since the volunteer statisticians figured things out after the schedule closed, but just to settle it for the records the National Hockey League bestowed its official 1937-38 scoring crown last night to Gordie Drillon of Toronto Maple Leafs.

After a season of travelling at better than a goal-a-game clip, the young second-year wingman came up with a point total of 52 to beat out teammate Syl Apps by a couple of spots. More than that, his 26 actual tallies were good enough to lead the league by three in the goal-getting department.

Bucky Ried Horner of Toronto, who started off the season in the throes of a reformation, turned bad man before the schedule was ended, underwent and wound up as leading penalty-getter with 82 minutes.

BLUE SHIRT NOW CLEAR FAVORITE GRAND NATIONAL

AINTREE, March 24—Arthur Sainsbury's little gelding, Blue Shirt, now a clear favorite to win Friday's 100th running of the Grand National steeplechase, increased today to stir up the wildest betting excitement in recent British racing history.

Coupled with Edward Esmond's Phakos on thousands of "doubles," Blue Shirt will cost the bookies around $5,000,000 if he wins Friday as Phakos did Wednesday in the Lincolnshire Handicap.

In the next to the last callover of odds at the Victoria Club, the gelding was established at 100-12 as the favorite for the stiff test of four miles, 856 yards. The earlier favorite Mrs. Camille Evans' Royal Mail, last year's winner, became second choice at 10 to 1.

Three scratches were announced Wednesday: W. Goodbody's Red Freeman, J. Morant's Santa Luz and A. Pilkington's Pencraik, reducing the probable starters to 36.

Billiard Title Goes To Legion "B" Team

The Canadian Legion No. 1 "B" team captured the "B" section championship of the Edmonton Billiard League for the 1938 season, when they won two games from the Legion No. 2 entry. This gives the Canadian Legion both the "A" and "B" section championships for the current season.

Following are the results: Stevens (1) 125, Chapman (2) 92; Taylor (2) 125, Jennings (1) 101; Cummings (1) 122, Murdock (2) 72; Seaburg (2) 125, Cowley (1) 123.

Open Western Final Here Saturday Against Strong St. Boniface Seals

By JACK DEAKIN

TODAY another great Edmonton Athletic Club team has reached the Western Canada junior hockey final, following the trail blazed in 1934 by the brilliant machine that went to the Dominion final under the driving power of a handful of stars who have since made their rmarks in major and minor pro hockey.

Last night the E. A. C. dropped the Saskatoon Chiefs from the playoff picture with a 6-3 drubbing in a torrid, breath-taking battle at the Arena here. It was the third game of the western semi-final, the Clubmen having won the first 7-3 and dropped the second 2-0. The E. A. C. is now marking time, ready to open the western final series here this Saturday against the St. Boniface Seals of Winnipeg.

Sixty-two hundred fans, 5,911 of which were paying patrons, crowded the Arena to capacity. It was the Arena's greatest crowd to date and certainly no crowd could ask for any greater thrills than were offered when the champions skated to a 5-0 lead and then staved off a desperate, dynamic and spirited Chief attack which sent pulses racing and goals flying at the rate of three in five minutes of play.

THAT BOY LUNDE

Mel Lunde, pinch-hitting for the injured Dick Tougas, was the hero last night, bagging the all-important first goal and adding a second to it later on. That name may sound new to a lot of the fans, for Mel has figured in few games this season. He has warmed the bench most of the time, but got his big chance to make good when Tougas was forced out of action. Not one complaint came from Lunde as he spent time on the bench and when he got his chance he made good.

It was Lunde's stick that last night's payoff goal came from. Within three minutes of the start of play he blasted a terrific bullet-drive from six feet outside the Saskatoon blue line to beat Goalie Robbins for the first goal of the game—the vital one that both clubs were praying for.

Slim and looking like anything but a siege gun, Lunde has perhaps the hardest and most accurate shot on the entire E.A.C. team. He shot for a corner on that sensational opening score. The puck travelled as straight as a string for a full 66 feet and whistled between the arm and body of the dumbfounded Saskatoon goalie.

MEL GETS ANOTHER

E. A. C. first stringers made the count read 2-0 before the first period ended. While the lead loomed a large one at that time, Lunde's second goal of the night was again the most important. It was the only one of the second period, forcing the Chiefs to go wide open in the third frame and while playing all up the Clubmen broke away for a brace of tallies that later proved winning markers.

Smarting from the 2-0 shutout forced on them by the Chiefs in the second game, E. A. C.'s went out with plenty of zip in their plays from the first face-off last night. Several speedy raids were made on the Chief goal by the first stringers before they took a breather.

Lunde's goal came suddenly and unexpectedly for he was several feet outside of the blueline when he let loose that blistering shot. Robbins had little time to move before the puck came driving in on him and then it was too late as the red light winked and Edmonton's hockey fandom let loose its joyous cheer.

FOLEY MISSES

Desperately Saskatoon tried to organize an attack, but it was E. A. C. who held the edge in play. Seconds after Lunde's goal the Clubmen should have had a wider edge as Foley sped in on Robbins but misfired. Foley missed two sure goals before Eric Beauchamp tipped Bob Carse's pasuut from behind the net into the cage.

The Edmonton forward deserved that goal for they had piled in on the much deflated Robbins on many dangerous rushes which had perfect passing plays.

At the start of the second Eric Beauchamp missed a perfect chance on a play with Carse, while a few minutes later Ross Hinder treated Bill Drever on Saskatoon's first big threat of the game. Lunde's second goal came for E. A. C. three up and the hard-shooting winger polished off Foley's play smartly on a close-in shot.

All the two minute mark in the final frame the Edmonton team went four to the good when Beauchamp and Darling broke away from a Saskatoon power play. This pair had only one Saskatoon defenceman to beat, getting by him on a passing attack with Beauchamp flipping the puck over the body of the overworked Robbins.

Taking advantage of the edge in manpower when Chamney and McMorris, of Saskatoon and Sawchuk of Edmonton served penalties, E.A.C.'s went fire up with Darling drilling Carse's pass past Robbins.

E.A.C.'s LONE TEMPERS

It was at this stage of the game that Edmonton players became peevish and suffered greatly by misconduct penalties to Sawchuk and Darling. Saskatoon took quick advantage of the disorganized E.A.C. team and drilled home three goals at the rate of a goal per minute.

PUG YOUNG

Edmonton's dashing defenceman, he dashed all over the rink so he could dash Saskatoon forwards to the ice. He wondered why the fans threw chairs on the ice, when they couldn't hit the referee.

TRAIL SMOKE-EATERS SWEEP OPENING GAME 6-0

Prairie Champions Wilt Before Cronie Sparked Offensive

Saskatchewan Sextet Fades in Final Period, Ab Cronie Scores Three Goals and Gets An Assist

CALGARY, March 24.—After a scoreless first period, Trail Smoke-Eaters, champions of British Columbia - Alberta, put the pressure on to defeat the Flin Flon Bombers, Saskatchewan titlists, 6-0 in the first game of the Allan Cup western semi-final here last night.

The second game will be played in Saskatoon Saturday night and a third, if necessary, Monday.

The Smoke Eaters scored twice in the second period and four times in the third, paced by Ab Cronie, former Calgary star. He scored the first goal in the second session and netted two out of the four in the final and assisted in one of the others. Dave Duchak, Joe Benoit and Jimmy Morris were the other scorers.

Goalie Duke Scodullero shared honors with Cronie with a stellar performance against the Bombers' fast skating attacks in the first two periods. In the third, the Bombers wilted before the smelter town boys, who were right in on the Saskatchewan champion's territory throughout the final few minutes of play.

SECOND LINE STARS

It was another top night for Trail's second line of Cronie, Bunny Dame and Benoit, who stole the honors from the famous kid-line of Duchak, McCreedy and Kowcinak.

Cronie got away the first shot of the game but it was blocked by Simpson. Brown carried play to the other end but Bombers drew boos from the crowd of 5,000 by sending in long shots instead of working in close for scores.

Andrejkew shot from the blue line and came close, then Abel forced the pace for Bombers only to have Scodallero perform brilliantly in the Trail net.

Trail dominated play for a couple of minutes near the end of the period and passed up their greatest scoring chance, when Duchak shot straight at Simpson after receiving a pass directly in front of the net. Morris went in for a shot but the Flin Flon goalies huddled it finally.

A high shot from Benoit was stopped by Sampson as the second session opened. Then a series of end to end rushes were climaxed, when Trail stepped into the lead on a combination play.

Snowden and Cronie, former locals, went up together. The former centred the rubber after crossing the blue line and Cronie whipped it into the net with a golf shot, not stopping his rush as he swept the rubber behind Simpson.

GO TWO UP

More end to end attacks followed and then McCreedy carried the puck to a corner, hooked it out to Duchak and Trail was two up.

The final period was only 40 seconds old, when Benoit boosted the Trail margin with a smart solo attack, skating up the ice, circling the net and then slapping the puck past a bewildered Simpson.

Trail continued to press and increased the lead to 4-0 when Cronie shot in his second goal, taking a pass from Benoit to beat the Flin Flon custodian.

The next goal again came from the stick of Cronie, who took a pass from Dame after a nice, clean breakaway and beat the hapless Simpson. Cronie figured in the final goal, three minutes from the end of the session, when he sent over a fine pass to Morris, who made no mistake with a short drive to the net.

LANDIS CALLS THREE STRIKES ON CARDINALS

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 24.—In a sweeping denunciation of the St. Louis Cardinals' system of "working agreements" with minor league clubs, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis made free agents Wednesday of an estimated 100 players belonging to six mid-west teams and fined offending owners $2,176.

The baseball czar set free all players except one belonging to Cedar Rapids of the Three-e League, and all owned by Monet of the Arkansas-Missouri League, Mitchell of the Nebraska League, Fayetteville of the Arkansas-Missouri, Crookston of the Northern League and Newport of the Northwest Arkansas League.

In addition, Springfield, (Mo.) of the Western Association was fined $1,000 for failing to keep its cards above the table. Cedar Rapids and Sacramento, the latter of the Pacific Coast League, were each penalized $388.

Ultimate effects of the Judge's decision could not securely be told, but it undoubtedly was the opening gun of an intensive campaign aimed principally at Branch Rickey, sly supervisor of the Cardinals and father of the so-called farm system.

Judge Landis promised an additional statement within a fortnight, in which he was expected to list all of the players affected by Wednesday's decision. He would not say Wednesday whether a player now with a major league team was involved.

Basis of the entire rukus was, the decision discloses, a bit of work that has been going on between the Cardinals and Cedar Rapids for the last two seasons. Cedar Rapids was not listed as a Card affiliate, yet, says the Judge, "investigation establishes beyond doubt or question that the Cedar Rapids club and its affiliates in 1936 and 1937 were merely adjuncts to the St. Louis system and that St. Louis controlled the players of two clubs in each of the three clubs "D" leagues in 1936 and in each of four class "C" leagues in 1936.

Calgary Quintet Swamped By Jacks

RAYMOND, March 24.—Raymond Union Jacks outpointed Calgary Grills 67-39 here last night in the first game of their total-point series for the right to enter the Alberta men's senior basketball finals against University of Alberta, northern champions. Second game will be played in Calgary on Friday night.

Jacks, perennial provincial titlists, took a 34-18 lead in the opening frame and were never headed.

Softball Meeting

All boys and girls wishing to play senior, junior or Pee-Wee softball this summer are cordially invited to attend a softball meeting that will be held in the Alberta Avenue Community Hall, Friday, March 25. Anyone wishing to assume coaching duties on any of these teams are requested to attend.

Oxford Changes To Winning Shell Look Impressive

LONDON, March 24.—The Oxford crew, rowing last year's winning shell, Wednesday showed the most impressive form of their training for the annual intervarsity boat race, April 2.

The Dark Blues had a strenuous day, during which they worked up and down stream for 15 miles. Changing to the shell in which Oxford won last year's race in 14 starts last year, the Dark Blue oarsmen showed increased length at 38 strokes a minute. They may pull the full Putney to Mortlake course today.

Cambridge had a light practice. In a couple of starts they hit 29 strokes in the first half minute. They are likely to indulge in a long week-end rest, not appearing on the river again until Monday.

Helen Wills Moody On Wightman Team

NEW YORK, March 24.—Helen Wills Moody will return to Wightman Cup competition this summer for the first time in six years it was revealed last night by the United States Lawn Tennis Association in announcing the make-up of the 1938 cup team.

Mrs. Moody, now 32, definitely has determined upon a comeback campaign that will include the British and American singles championship tournaments, the U.S.L.T.A. announced, and has been named to a cup squad which includes Alice Marble, Helen Jacobs, Dorothy Bundy and Gwen Wheeler, all of California, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass.

Phakos Bay Wins Opening Classic

LINCOLN, England, March 24.—His speed on the hard turf undiminished by an old knee injury, forward Esmond's Phakos, bay son of Pharos and Phi-Phi, Wednesday overcame a faltering start to win the Lincolnshire handicap in near record time.

A large crowd, watching in glorious spring weather the third running of the first big event of the racing calendar, saw the speedy colt overtake and pass the leaders a quarter-mile from the post to withstand a final challenge to lead Z. G. Michalinos' Zalmis across the finish line by three-quarters of a length.

State Monopoly

WELLINGTON, March 24.—A bill providing for establishment of an iron and steel industry as a state monopoly in New Zealand has been passed in the Upper House.

CALGARY CAGERS GET SUSPENSION FOR WHOLE YEAR

CALGARY, March 24—Drastic suspension orders against four teams of the Foothills Ladies' Basketball League were issued Wednesday by Hon. Solon Low, president of the Alberta Amateur Basketball Association.

Mr. Low ordered suspension for one year of the Buffalkes, Safeways, Beavers and Wildcats clubs comprising the Foothills league.

He also suspended James M. Hornby, commissioner of the league and managers of the four teams. Officials here refused to comment on the suspension order.

The suspension order was contained in a telegram sent to Mr. Hornby by Mr. Low in Edmonton. Earlier in the season there was a dispute between the local league and the A.A.B.A. It concerned the constitution drafted by the Foothills league.

Mr. Low advised Commissioner Hornby he would notify the Edmonton Gradettes who were scheduled to meet the Calgary Beavers here next Saturday, of the suspension. The second game of the senior "B" championship was to be played here. The Gradettes won the first game in Edmonton last Saturday, defeating the Beavers 52-34.

Boy Finds Coin: May Be Valuable

COMBEY, Alta., March 24.—An Alta. can one-cent piece which may be worth anything up to $400, was discovered by the young son of J. Bidwell Hodges, while playing in the attic of his home recently. Dated 1799, its value is listed in coin catalogues as "from $5 to $400."

Mr. Hodger believes he received the coin when he was postmaster here, and that it found its way to the attic along with household equipment long since discarded.

LEAF JUVENILES AFTER ALBERTA CROWN TONIGHT

The Maple Leaf Athletic club juveniles clash with Calgary Columbus club at the Arena tonight for the provincial juvenile championship. The second game of the series will be played at the Arena Friday evening. Both games get under way at 8:30 p.m.

Leafs, undefeated in games played so far this season, defeated E. A. C. juveniles for the city title, then knocked over Fort Saskatchewan and Edson sextets for the Northern Alberta crown. They are one of the strongest juvenile squads to represent Edmonton in several years and are expected to defeat the Calgary team.

The Calgary sextet can be counted on to give a mighty fine account of themselves. They defeated Medicine Hat for the Southern title and have the advantage of having played more games recently than the Edmonton club. Leafs have not had a game for several weeks, although they have been practising regularly.

Registration For Civilians In War Said Probable

LONDON, March 24—Great Britain's civil population may be subject to compulsory registration immediately upon the start of any future war, Prime Minister Chamberlain intimated in the House of Commons last night.

After indicating he would make a short statement regarding national defence during today's foreign policy debate, Mr. Chamberlain declared he did not believe any such obligatory registration was necessary in peacetime. He answered in the affirmative, however, when Duncan Sandys, Conservative, asked if such procedure might be put into effect upon the outbreak of war.

Vancouver Beaten 3-2, Seattle Ties Up Coast Playoff

Hal Tabor Sparks Seattle's Last Period Rally With Two Goals—Mory Rimstad Gets One For Lions

SEATTLE, March 24.—Seattle Seahawks defeated Vancouver 3-2 here last night to tie up their best-of-five game series for the Pacific Coast Hockey League championship at one game each.

Down 1-0 at the start of the third period, Lions punched in two goals in nine minutes, but Seahawks came back with a pair of their own to put the series on equal terms.

Dave Downie picked up a double pass from Danny Cox and Wilf Field early in the second session for the opening goal.

Mory Rimstad converted Art Merrill's pass two minutes after the third opened and Tip O'Neill soloed through six minutes later for Lions' second.

Hal Tabor blazed in the tieing and winning Seahawk counters, the first on a pass from Frank Jerwa, and the second from Sammy McAdam and Jerwa.

The third game of the series is scheduled for here Saturday night.

LINEUP:

Vancouver: Jackson; Hutton, Frow; Rimstad, Palm, Merrill. Subs: Arnott, Pringle, O'Neill, Conn, Lennon.

Seattle: Venne, Hoobergs; Field; Jerwa; McAdam, Tabor. Subs: Daley, Lewicki, Cox, Downie, Moffatt.

Officials: Bill Shaver, Cully Wilson.

SUMMARY:

First Period: No score. Penalties: Jerwa, Hutton, Cox.

Second Period: 1, Seattle, Downie (Cox, Field), 5:34. Penalties: Merrill, Tabor.

Third Period: 2, Vancouver, Rimstad (Merrill), 2:15. 3, Vancouver, O'Neill, 8:36. 4, Seattle, Tabor (Jerwa), 6:46. 5, Seattle, Tabor (McAdam, Jerwa), 15:45. Penalties: Frew.

DOMINOES HEAD B. C. HOOP FINAL

VICTORIA, March 24—Victoria Dominoes downed Vancouver Crescents 34-32 here last night to take a two-game lead in their best-of-five series for the British Columbia Men's Senior "A" Basketball title and the right to represent the province in the Dominion playdowns.

In a see-saw battle that seldom saw more than a point separating the teams, Dominoes finally pulled out victory in the dying minutes to add to their 37-31 win in the opening game last night.

Westerns led 12-11 at the end of the first 10 minutes and were in front 18-16 at the half-way mark.

The teams move to Vancouver, where they resume the series Friday and Saturday nights.

Tourist Trade Expected Large In Season 1938

OTTAWA, March 24—Despite the economic recession in the United States and Canada, the Canadian travel branch of the transport department expects the tourist traffic will be as large this year as last when it was estimated visitors to the Dominion spent $290,000,000. In 1936 the tourist traffic brought $255,00 ,000 to Canada.

Sugar Beet King

LETHBRIDGE, March 24.—Martin Brocks of Barnwell today was acclaimed Alberta sugar beet king when he was announced winner of the 15-ton Sugar Beet Club trophy at a joint meeting of beet growers and the Lethbridge Board of Trade. Brocks, who came from Czechoslovakia in 1929, grew an average of more than 17 tons an acre on 20 acres in winning the title.

WILKINS HOPS OFF FOR BASE IN NEW YORK

Sir Hubert Wilkins and three of the four men he had with him while he searched for the six missing Soviet aviators in fru Arctic, took off Thursday morning for Winnipeg en route to New York after a six-day stay here.

Those making the flight to Winnipeg with Sir Hubert were Pilot Herbert Holliek-Kenyon, of Toronto; Co-Pilot Al Cheeseman, aid-eman-elect of Port Arthur, Ont., and Air Engineer Al Dyne, of Winnipeg. Radio Operator A. R. Wilson, who flew with the party on their search flights and on the long non-stop hop from Aklavik to Edmonton last Friday, left several days ago by train for his home in Toronto.

Sir Hubert has expressed a belief that if the Soviet party, led by Sigismund Levanefsky, landed on the ice of the Arctic ocean when it disappeared during an attempted trans-Polar flight August 13 last, it would now have drifted to the Russian side of the Arctic ocean.

The noted explorer also said that if he made another trip to the Arctic he hoped it would be in a submarine when work could be done every day. He thought an underice scientific expedition could cover just as much territory, and cover it more thoroughly, than an expedition by air.

Sir Hubert took off from here shortly after 8 a.m., M.S.T., expecting to make the Winnipeg hop-off between 2 and 3 p.m., M.S.T. He expects to make his stop at Winnipeg brief, merely clearing customs there. Then he intends to fly direct to New York.

P. CHERNICHAN SAYS STEERING WHEEL LOCKED

A locked steering wheel which prevented his turning out of the street car tracks was given by Peter Chernichan, Bellis district farmer, as the cause of the fatal accident which resulted in Chernichan being charged in supreme court before Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing and a jury, with manslaughter.

The case arose out of the death of Metro Chernichan, a cousin, who was riding in the accused's car when it collided with a street car at the intersection of 97 street and 105A avenue.

Accused denied that he was under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident, which occurred at 9:15 o'clock on the evening of November 4 last. Both the accused and Metro Chernichan were so seriously injured that little hope was held out for the recovery of either. Metro Chernichan died on November 22. The hearing will be resumed Thursday morning.

"A locked steering wheel made this accident unavoidable," R. Fred Jackson, defense counsel, submitted to a jury during his address Thursday morning on behalf of Peter Chernichan.

Mr. Jackson submitted there was no evidence that the accused was intoxicated at the time of the accident, and submitted that when accused found it impossible to turn his car off the street car tracks the accident resulted. If this was the cause, he added, the accident was unavoidable and the accused should be found not guilty of the charge.

Crown Prosecutor J. W. McClung suggested that the cause of the accident was that accused was driving on the wrong side of the street and was not keeping a proper lookout. He referred to the fact that Chernichan drove his car for a city block after discovering that the steering gear had locked. "If that is the case," he jocularly stated Mr. McClung, "it was the duty of the accused to stop his car and in continuing to drive it he was negligent."

The case is in the hands of the jury, and a verdict is expected today.

The national convention of the C.C.F. will be held in Edmonton in July, W. Irvine, former M.P. for Battleford and now president of the C.C.F. in Alberta, announced. Precise dates of the convention are not yet known. J. S. Woodsworth, national leader, and David Lewis, only Canadian Rhodes Scholar ever to head the Oxford Debating Union and now national secretary, will attend.

Permit Issued For Building Of New Garage

Permit for the construction of a $10,000 brick garage extension for Burrows Motors at 10132 106 street, has been issued by the city building department. As announced by Manager A. L. Burrows a short time ago, the new extension will double the capacity of the garage, and the whole project, including installation of equipment and other improvements, will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

The building department has also issued permits to William Crow for a frame dwelling at 11918 81 street, at a cost of $800, and to Joseph Check for a frame and stucco dwelling at 8015 118 avenue, at a cost of $800.

Get Parents Fighting Mad Paper Urges

VANCOUVER March 24.—In an "extra" edition, the Campus Chronicle, newspaper published by students of Magee high school, urged its readers to "get your parents in a fighting mood and watch results."

The extra was put out when the city school board, disregarding Magee student protests, decided to spend its first available money on Byng high school instead of Magee.

Refreshing Of Voters Charge Is Abandoned

PORT HANEY, B.C., March 24—A charge of illegal electioneering practice against Reeve Solomon Musselam was dismissed in city police court Wednesday after Max Kinnaird, of Vancouver informant against the Maple Ridge municipal head, said he was not prepared to proceed. Reeve Musselam was charged with "causing refreshments to be given to voters" at the municipal election Jan. 22.

JOBLESS UNION URGES WITHDRAW FROM CITY WORK

CALGARY, March 24—One of seven locals of the Calgary unemployed union voted last night to "withdraw relief labor from city work."

The union, which claims membership of 740, is considering this form of protest to a cut in relief rations to become effective April 1 as ordered by the city council.

It is expected the decision of all locals will be known by the end of the week.

There are more than four thousand families or relief in Calgary. Heads of families are expected to work five days a week, regardless of the size of families.

Hoadley Farmer Pockets Cash For His Sweep Ticket

No matter how his horse finishes in the Grand National, Emil Berger Hjelmseth, 47-year-old Hoadley district farmer, will have a tidy sum of money put away in a cold sock, or invest in dividend paying stocks, as he sold a half interest in his ticket on Frobisher, one of the well fancied candidates in Friday's race, to a New York agent of a London bookmaker for $2,800.

The deal was completed in Edmonton Wednesday afternoon, and the money paid over to the lucky holder of the ticket.

RULES

1. This competition is open to everyone, with the exception of Edmonton Bulletin employees and their families.
2. Each competitor must save the COMPLETE series of pictures. They will appear in pairs (one each day for fifty days) and EACH will be numbered from 1 to 50—that is, 100 pictures in all. Pairs are NOT TO BE SEPARATED and the correct names and initials are to be PRINTED in the space provided under each picture. Each pair of pictures submitted must be CLIPPED from the Edmonton Bulletin. Tracings will NOT be accepted.
3. A contestant may only submit ONE SET OF PICTURES (a set consists of fifty pairs—numbered 1 to 50—100 pictures in all).
4. The exact surname, spelled correctly, and either FULL first and second names (for example—Henry John), or INITIALS (for example —H. J.) must be applied for a pair, to be judged correct.
5. Prizes will be awarded according to the greatest number of names correct; the second greatest correct each as to, in the case of a tie, seniress will be the deciding factor.
6. After the last pair of pictures has appeared, correct NAME FORM will be published, which must be filled in by the contestant.
7. Competitors must follow instructions STRICTLY.
8. The decision of the Contest Editor will be FINAL and contestants who specially blind, or otherwise symbolish their entry, will be disqualified. A set of names, NEARLY PRINTED BY HAND, will be given the same consideration as one which is typewritten.
9. No correspondence can be undertaken regarding the picture, or prizes, and no information will be given over the telephone.

EDMONTON BULLETIN

Official Returns In East Edmonton

Official returns on the East Edmonton by-election released Wednesday night by H. H. Crawford, returning officer, show that Orvis A. Kennedy, who retained the seat for the Social Credit party, won over R. C. Marshall, Liberal candidate, by a majority of 1936 votes.

Figures as released by Mr. Crawford are:

Orvis A. Kennedy, 9,884.

Robert C. Marshall, 7,948.

W. W. Cleveley, Conservative, 2,489.

There were 134 rejected ballots. Of the 28,643 names on the voters' list, 20,455 exercised their franchise.

Election returns compiled unofficially Monday night by The Bulletin a few moments after the close of the poll were remarkably accurate. They were: Kennedy, 9,920; Marshall, 7,935; Cleveley, 2,480.

JACK BREWSTER SHOWS FILMS JASPER PARK

The glories of Jasper National Park as a mecca for sportsmen were depicted in a series of moving pictures shown Wednesday evening to members of the Northern Alberta Game and Fish Protective League by Jack Brewster, well-known Jasper Park guide and transportation magnate.

In a series of six films Mr. Brewster took the members of a capacity audience at the Corona hotel through every phase of sporting activity provided in the National park. Marvellous pictures of a big game hunt were shown which included the kill of sheep, goat, caribou and moose, while the audience was given an opportunity of seeing the wonderful sport the Rainbow trout of the Jasper streams can afford.

Splendid shots of winter sports added to the zest of the show, but occasionally the film which created greatest interest was that taken of wild life in the park.

The show was such a great success, and as many of the members of the association were unable to witness the pictures, the committee in charge of arrangement are contemplating a return engagement in a larger hall.

ESTIMATES OF 7 MILLION GET RATIFICATION

Sitting in committee of supply on Wednesday the legislature ratified estimates aggregating $7,060,000 on the income account appropriations of the education, public health and public works departments.

The house was dealing with public works departmental capital account estimates when it adjourned.

Public works department estimates ratified, totalled $2,356,311, all of which came under income account.

In this department a vote of $32,130 for maintenance and operation of government house was held over for further discussion, on motion of H. J. Ash, S.C., Olds, who has moved, in the house, a resolution advocating abolition of government house.

Health department estimates totalling $2,436,616.96 an increase of $19,019.32 over last year were passed.

Education department estimates of $2,062,368.50 an increase of $170,875.50 over last year were approved. This total includes that part of this department's estimates approved on Tuesday.

It is expected discussion of estimates will be continued on Thursday.

Disseminating Of Information As Bill Provision

Copies of Act to Provide the Realization of the Social Credit of Alberta Tabled in Legislature For Second Reading

Appointment of Alfred J. Hooke, Social Credit member of the legislature for Red Deer to the Alberta Social Credit Board, to succeed S. A. Berg, S.C., Alexandra, is provided in the Act to Provide the Realization of the Social Credit of Alberta.

Copies of the act which were tabled in the house on Wednesday, Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry is sponsoring the bill.

The bill discloses that special efforts will be made to disseminate information.

In the new bill, the names of the Social Credit board are given as follows: G. L. Maclachlan, S.C., Coronation; Floyd M. Baker, S.C., Clover Bar; A. J. Hooke, S.C., Red Deer; W. E. Hayes, S.C., Stony Plain and Dr. J. L. McPherson, S.C., Vegreville.

The act gives all members of the board the same as in the original fact, with, the exception that Mr. Hooke, who supplants Mr. Berg, Mr. Berg resigned and, in spite of efforts to have him remain, he carried through his desire to retire.

FOURTH MEASURE

The present act is the fourth Social Credit measure introduced by the government.

This is distinguished from its three predecessors by reason of the fact that it is concerned mainly with the dissemination of "authoritative information." The three previous measures dealt with various features of the economic program, such as credit houses, the issue of credit certificates and other points in the program.

The new bill reveals that the definition of "Social Credit" which was incorporated in the amending bill brought into the house last fall and believed to have been the definition drafted and approved by George F. Powell and C. L. D. Byrne, the two emissaries of Major Clifford H. Douglas, remains unchanged.

This definition is as follows: "Social Credit means the power resulting from the belief inherent within society that its individual members in association can gain the objective they desire."

SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES

The specific objectives of the Social Credit Board as laid down in the bill are as follows:

1—To formulate and adopt policies. "Policy" is defined as "the measures and line of conduct conducive to the realization of Social Credit in the province."

2—To carry out measures deemed advisable to afford to the people of the province authoritative information."

3—To carry out measures to counteract "any action or influence likely to impair or retard the establishment of Social Credit of the province."

4—To use any facilities "for the public distribution of information or instruction."

5—To seek and obtain advice and assistance.

6—To appoint technicians and other employees.

7—To lay down rules for the conduct of the board's activities.

The new act does not repeal or set aside the previous, consolidated Social Credit Act, but it does take precedence over it.

SAFEGUARD BOARD

An opinion was expressed by Mr. Justice Lyman Duff, of the Dominion Supreme court, in recent references on the validity of three bills on which assent was reserved by His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen at the September-October special session, that the existing Social Credit act is ultra vires. The new act aims to safeguard the Alberta Social Credit board against any attack in the courts, as a result of the opinion expressed by Chief Justice Duff.

First Social Credit legislation was the Social Credit Measures act, brought into the house during the regular 1936 session of the house. Its salient feature provided for an investigation into methods of economic reform and partially into plans for equating consumption and production. This act yielded its place later in 1936 at a special session, to the Alberta Credit act, the first to include provisions for credit houses and distribution of credit.

At the regular 1937 session, the Alberta Credit act was replaced by the Alberta Social Credit act, which provided for the establishment of the Social Credit board of five and giving the board power to comb the world for experts to assist in implementing the Social Credit program. The Social Credit act retained from its predecessor the features for operation of a credit accounts system.

GET EXPENSES

The new act provides that the Social Credit Board shall be denied a committee of the legislature and its members, therefore, will be entitled to traveling expenses and subsistence allowances, but no salaries.

Mr. MacLachlan, as chairman, has received $10 a day, including Sundays, while other members of the Board have received $8 a day while actually engaged at work.

A recent return tabled in the legislature showed that since the board commenced operations nearly a year ago Mr. MacLachlan has drawn $3,324.32.

It is provided in the Legislative Assembly Act that members of house committees receive $8 a day in the province and $10 outside the province while engaged on work and as house committees do not meet on Sunday's there will be no allowance for that day. Unless special provision is made Mr. MacLachlan will receive $8 a day instead of $10 and no allowance being made for Sunday.

The bill is now ready for second reading.

2-WAY RACE SPAIN ARMS SAID RAGING

General Franco Said Receiving Much More Equipment Than Government

LONDON, March 24—Informed sources said Wednesday a two-way race is on to supply arms to warring factions in Spain.

They pictured Italy and Germany as rushing munitions to Spanish Insurgents, and Soviet Russia, and to a lesser extent France, sending arms to Spanish government forces.

Insurgent General Franco, they said, has received far more aid than the Spanish government, with three to five times as many planes and crushing artillery supremacy.

ESTIMATE LOW

A French estimate of 400 German and Italian planes in Insurgent Spain, London sources said, was far below the total Insurgent air strength.

French fears that foreign guns and planes now used against the Spanish government could be turned against France if war should come, inspired a new suggestion to London today.

NO WORD ON POWELL CASE FROM OTTAWA

Premier William Aberhart stated in the legislature on Wednesday that he had received no communication from Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice at Ottawa, respecting George Frederick Powell, Douglas Social Credit technician and adviser to the Alberta Social Credit Board.

The question was introduced into the house on Wednesday by Herbert E. Ingrey, S.C., Drumheller, who on Orders of the Day rose and said that he would like to ask the Premier as Attorney General, if he had received any information regarding the remission of sentence or release from jail of Mr. Powell. "I have no communication from him," replied the Premier.

Mr. Powell entered the Fort Saskatchewan jail on Feb. 10 to commence a three months' sentence imposed by Mr. Justice Ives, after His Lordship had found him guilty of defamatory libel "well knowing the same to be false."

The legislature passed a resolution advocating remission of sentence.

$20,000 Damages Sought In Suit

Alleging negligence on the part of the company and its servants, Mrs. Hulda Wendt and Irene G. Wendt, Edmonton, started action against the Canadian National Railway seeking $20,000 damages.

The action arises out of a head-on collision between Canadian National trains at Alsask, Alberta, on September 29, 1937 in which William F. Wendt, brakeman, received injuries from which he died.

Suit is brought by his widow in behalf of herself and daughter, Irene, and is being claimed by the widow, and $5,000 on behalf of her daughter. The statement of claim was filed by the law firm of Friedman, Lieberman and Newson.

Union Heads From Outside Recognized

REGINA, March 24—Full recognition of the principle that heads of international unions from outside Canada should be given authority to conduct bargaining on behalf of Canadian labor unions was written into the trade union bill in the Saskatchewan legislature Wednesday. Only three members opposed the amendment.

Wetaskiwin Fire

WETASKIWIN, March 24.—Fire broke out in Mayor C. D. Enman's book store on Pierce street, at 9:30 Wednesday night. The fire department made short response to the alarm and prevented a total loss. Heavy damage was done to the basement stocks of books and paper goods carried.
